OFFICIALS OF DEFUNCT BANK GIVEN PARDONS

Frankfort, Ky., December 15.—(AP) While investigations went forward to day of an alleged fraudulent petition upon which former Governor William J. Fields based his action in granting pardons to two indicted murderers, scrutiny of the records of the closing days of the Fields administration revealed that two of those receiving gubernatorial clemency were officers of the defunct Bank of Calhoun.

A. L. Mosely, vice president, and J. H. Owens, cashier of the bank, failure of which was said to have cost depositors more than $40,000, were among the more than 150 persons to whom Fields issued pardons, commutations and restorations during his last six weeks as chief executive of Kentucky. Mosely, whose family was said to have owed the bank more than half of the amount lost to depositors, had been convicted and sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary.

Loans to Brokers

Washington, December 15.—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York federal reserve member banks for the week ending December 14 amounted to $3,558,355,000, comparing with $3,562,805,000 for the preceding week, the federal reserve board announced today.

VISITOR FROM BERLIN

DOUGLAS MILLER.

U. S. A. IS PATTERN FOR NEW GERMANY

Germany has adopted American methods of business in her fight to regain normalcy, Douglas Miller, assistant American commercial attaché in Berlin, who is in Atlanta for a visit of several days, said Thursday. Miller spoke at meetings of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Atlanta Foreign Trade club Thursday, and will remain in Atlanta through Saturday to confer with local exporters relative to trade conditions in Europe.

Since the war smashed the old social system in Germany, that country and others of Europe are patterning themselves after the United States, picking up our business methods and studying this country's efficient systems, Miller declared. "American colonies and tourists in Germany have tremendous influence, and the stores, theaters, restaurants and railways are being remodeled along American lines."

Between $45,000,000 and $50,000,000 of American business has been placed in Germany within the past three years through efforts of the department of commerce, Miller said. The German workers receive lower wages than American employees and German manufacturers cannot achieve the same production this country does because the market is not as good as America's, he said. The factory management does not approach that of America.

American Holidays Featured.
American holidays, such as Thanksgiving and the Fourth of July, are featured by Germans and the American flag is displayed on all occasions to create good will with tourists, Miller said. He added that the hotels in Berlin are afraid to display either of Germany's three flags, the monarchist, republican or socialist for fear of offending one of the parties, so they display the American flag to avoid offending the German political parties, and carry favor with American tourists. Even the streets of Germany have an American atmosphere, and Henry Ford is the most widely read American author in Germany, he said. Miller told of receiving visits at the department of commerce office from the 19-year-old son of the German crown prince, grandson of the kaiser, who is studying the United States as a part of his course at the University of Berlin. The lad is well read on American subjects, he said.

Help in Immigration.
The influence of American methods in Germany and other European countries is reacting to the benefit of the country's immigration influx, for, with their new knowledge of conditions in this country, the better class of foreigners are induced to emigrate to America and the immigration authorities have the pick of the best sort of immigrants to fill the quotas, Miller declared.

As German wages are low, the purchasing power of the people is consequently low, a fact not realized by the bulk of German employers, Miller said. "Their best market is at home, naturally, as the working man is the one who buys things when he makes money, but the Germans do not seem to comprehend this, seeking instead to distribute their stuff in some mythical market."

Miller will leave for Greensboro, N. C., at the conclusion of his Atlanta visit, and plans to return to his duties in Germany during next February.

Thompson Is President.
There were a number of other interesting features to the meeting of the Foreign Trade club Thursday night. Irwin Thompson, who was the first American commercial attaché to Germany, being appointed before the war and serving until 1919, came to Atlanta from his home in Saluda, N. C., especially for the meeting. B. S. Barker, executive vice president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, cited the need for a more aggressive effort on the part of local manufacturers in foreign trade development.

H. O. Mitchell outlined plans for the second southeastern foreign trade conference, which has been postponed until next fall.

Officers elected follow: Charles F. Hoke, president; George A. Bland, vice president; Charles L. McLean, secretary and treasurer, and LeRoy F. Holt, assistant secretary and treasurer. Douglas Miller was elected an honorary member of the club.

CREWS ORGANIZED TO HUNT FOR CLUES
IN STEAMER'S FATE
Montreal, Que., December 15.—(AP) Land parties have been organized to scour the coast line of Lake Superior for clues as to the fate of the steamship Kamloops, missing with her crew of 20 men since the storm which swept the Great Lakes last week. Alex A. Auld, superintendent of the Canadian steamship lines, said at Toronto that officials of the company had every hope of hearing from the Kamloops yet. There was no probability of the ship's food supplies having given out, he believed. Captain Andrew Livingston, who last week escaped with his crew in a small boat after his vessel, the Lambton, was wrecked on Isle Perle, said the Kamloops' cargo might have shifted and caused the ship to turn turtle.

37 BODIES FOUND IN ORPHANAGE FIRE

Quebec, Quebec, December 15.—(United News.)—From the frozen debris that a few hours before had been the flaming hospice of St. Charles, an ancient death-trap for many of the 371 little girls sheltered there with nuns, rescuers tonight had dragged and chopped free a total of 37 bodies.

The total casualty list in the most disastrous fire in the recent history of Quebec seemed likely to mount to nearly 50. Seventeen of the children, most of them between five and nine years old and all of them under 12, were unaccounted for.

While firemen and police hacked at the ice-encrusted ruins, tales of heroism during the fierce hour of midnight when the century-old orphanage suddenly became a torch filled with shrieking youngsters, were multiplied. Gave Her Life.

One of the bodies recovered was that of Anna Gaudreault, 18, a servant girl and an orphan, who gave her life to save some of her orphaned charges. Several times during the height of the fire she dashed into the building and emerged, carrying two little girls. The fourth time she entered she failed to return.

Her body was found in the charred ruins near the bodies of several of the girls she apparently had attempted to rescue.

The largest group of bodies found was in one of these "pockets" of destroyed humanity in the basement section.

Of the 40 sisters of the Good Shepherd who were in charge of the orphanage, many were treated in hospitals for burns and other injuries.

THOMAS W. MOORE

S. Dougherty, Jr., Troop 29, and Ross Cheshire, Jr., Troop 45.

Special mention was made of Scout George Moore, of Troop 3, Marietta, whose prompt application of resuscitation methods saved the life of his mother after she had been struck by lightning. The doctor who, arrived 20 minutes later asserted that but for the work of Scout Moore his mother undoubtedly would have died.

Service ribbons awarded were of four varieties. Red ribbons are given for 50 points of service; blue ribbons for 75 points; red, white and blue ribbons for 150 points and green and yellow ribbons for 250 points. Scouts receiving these awards Thursday included:

JUNIOR CHAMBER HOLDS LUNCHEON FOR NEW MEMBERS

New members of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce were greeted Thursday at a "new-member" luncheon in the chamber of commerce. An attendance of more than 125 members was entertained by singing and dancing under the direction of Miss Margaret Mooring. The Jayce orchestra lived up to the get-together meeting. Dr. R. N. High Moor was the principal speaker and in a brief talk kept the interest of every man present on what might have been a "preachy" subject, but was everything but that.

A new and valuable Key-Index to Atlanta

FOR many years Atlanta business concerns have felt the need of an accurate and dependable list of residences and business houses which would be useful for sales promotion campaigns, for credit work, delivering parcels and valuables, and for securing property valuation and titles, etc.

The Atlanta (District) Street Address Telephone Directory, arranged alphabetically by streets and numerically by street numbers, including the telephone number of every telephone subscriber, has admirably filled this need. It is being used by two hundred of the leading business concerns, who declare it is worth many times its cost.

A new issue, carrying the recent change in street numbers and the many changes in telephone numbers, is available for leasing in limited quantities. It will prove a valuable asset to your business.

Full information regarding the advantages of this service can be had by writing or calling—

JULIAN V. BOEHM
NAMED PRESIDENT OF MASONIC CLUB

Julian V. Boehm was elected president of the Atlanta Masonic club at the regular meeting held at the Wine-coff hotel Wednesday. It was announced by A. M. Fincher, secretary.

Other officers elected for 1939 include P. Ford Clark, first vice president; John F. Burdine, second vice president; Allison M. Fincher, secretary, and Dr. T. C. Fowler, treasurer. The board of directors will consist of Dr. Claude Hughes, J. E. Ingram, Charles N. Walker, W. A. Jones, Ed Bray, Dr. C. R. Stauffer, John Woods, Walter Buck, B. C. Broyles and Everett N. Brown.

Resolutions of sympathy in the death of W. W. Orr, a member of the club, were adopted.

W. M. Edwards, publisher of the Georgian-American, spoke on "Impressions of Spain" and Dr. and Mrs. T. G. Fowler gave a musical program. The club decided to hold a ladies' luncheon on January 11.

NANCY HART TABLETS
ASKED BY GEORGIAN

Washington, December 15.—(AP)—Memorial tablets to Nancy Hart, revolutionary heroine, to be placed on Alford's bridge, Georgia, and near War Woman's creek, Georgia, at a cost of $1,000 each, were asked today by Representative Brand, democrat, Georgia.

13 REDS EXECUTED
BY CHINESE CHIEFS

Peking, December 15.—The Canton radio reports that three of the 13 Russian communists who were arrested were shot and the other 10 were paraded through the principal streets, then beheaded.

The consul general was arrested and the consul records were seized. The Russian embassy in Peking is fully lighted tonight and the gates are locked, indicating serious apprehension. A loyal guard stands over the Tientsin consulate.

The reports from Canton state that the communists were led by adherence to the third international, hoping for a world revolution, also foreign intervention in China with the latter providing an opportunity for radicalism in the home countries.

The fact that the troops reported the Canton communists were the objects of a punitive expedition ordered by Nanking causes suspicion, since these were considered radical.

CHINESE BREAK WITH REDS;
CONSUL GIVEN PASSPORTS

Shanghai, December 15.—(AP)—The nationalist government today handed the soviet consul general at Shanghai his passports. He was requested to leave nationalist territory within a week.

The passports were given the soviet envoy by Quo Tai-chi, nationalist vice minister of foreign affairs.

The action was in line with the nationalist government policy of the nationalists under Chiang Kai-shek to remove alleged Russian influence in Chinese affairs.

MAGRUDER RAPS
NAVY 'RED TAPE'

Washington, December 15.—Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder stood on Capitol Hill today and defied the naval disciplinary thunderbolt.

The militant old "sea dog" with a long and faithful service record behind him—had been called before the house naval affairs committee now engaged in considering President Coolidge's $800,000,000 naval construction program.

Calmly and quietly he stood before the committee members and repeated his charges of "red tape" and "inefficiency" which previously had caused his transfer as commandant of the Philadelphia navy yard to an obscure desk in the navy department here.

He branded Secretary of the Navy Wilbur's reply to his charges as a "calumny," "a gross thing of a stronger word," Admiral Magruder smilingly told the committee, "but I think 'calumny' covers it."

He charged that the navy is over-organized; that it has too many high ranking officers; that it spends thousands of dollars in maintaining useless navy yards along the Atlantic coast; that it does not have a single base along the Atlantic which could be used by the entire fleet in time of war; that the navy was spending more money than was necessary; and that the navy department had attempted to put him in a "false light."

Secretary Wilbur refused to comment upon the admiral's statements.

OIL BRIBE DENIED
BY BURNS AGENT

Washington, December 15.—(United News)—The government effort to prove that Burns detectives employed by Harry F. Sinclair tried to "bribe, intimidate and influence" the Fall-Sinclair jurors, met a setback at the contempt trial today when a Burns agent denied that he had talked with Juror Edward J. Kidwell.

Agent Frank J. O'Reilly, who has admitted having made contact with Kidwell's father, was confronted with the younger Kidwell and asked whether he had not spoken to him during a noon recess of the trial. "I never said a word to that man in all my life," O'Reilly replied.

Kidwell is expected to take the stand and tell about the alleged attempt to approach him. He has already revealed his testimony in a secret statement to the district attorney.

After O'Reilly's denial of having talked with Kidwell, the government announced at length by Assistant District Attorney James O'Leary in an effort to upset his testimony, O'Leary's methods were declared by the defense to be "brow-beating and intimidation of the witnesses."

Justice Siddons sustained defense objections to repeated questioning of O'Reilly along the same line, but said he saw little evidence of intimidation by the prosecution.

HEART REMOVED
THEN REPLACED;
BOY RECOVERS

Toledo, Ohio, December 15.—(AP)—After having his heart removed, operated upon and replaced, Francis Viel, 6, first grade pupil, was told Wednesday that he probably would be out of the hospital and home for Christmas.

The boy was stricken with pneumonia in October. Inflammation of the covering of the heart followed. An X-ray located a large pocket of pus back of the organ.

In order to remove the poison it was necessary for the surgeon to change the position of the heart during the operation, for a few seconds while working back of the heart. The physician held it in his hand.

HEAVY PENALTIES
GIVEN PRISONERS
IN TOWER ESCAPE

Conviction of Leaman Parks and plea of guilty by John Adams, John Hulsey and J. C. Hinkle, who were charged with aiding in the recent break of 10 prisoners from Fulton Tower, drew heavy penalties Thursday in Fulton superior court.

Parks was sentenced to from one to four years, and the defendants pleading guilty were sentenced to eight months each on the charge.

Parks was being held in the Tower on a charge of arson, Adams was serving three years for automobile theft, Hulsey was serving months for a misdemeanor, and Hinkle was held for trial for automobile theft. Of the ten prisoners who escaped, three are still at liberty.

METER READERS'
ORDER TO REPORT
STILLS FEARED

Pawtucket, R. I., December 15.—(United News)—Antagonism and in some cases apprehension followed in the wake of the announcement by officials of the Blackstone Valley Gas and Electric company today that their meter readers will report stills in clients' cellars.

David Daly, president of the company, hurried this bombshell into local newspapers after a conference with United States District Attorney John S. Murdock. Daly announced he would instruct the 300 employees of the company to report to him the discovery of liquor manufacturing apparatus in the cellar of any gas or electricity consumer.

Long Trail of Forged
Money Orders Is Ended
In Mobile; 2 Arrested

A widespread trail of forged postoffice money orders that started in Magley, Ind., and included Atlanta, ended Thursday in Mobile, Ala., with the arrest of two alleged money order forgers, according to a telegram received by Joe P. Johnston, postoffice inspector in charge of the Atlanta division, from Inspector "In Charge" of the Chicago division.

The trail of forged money orders led through Indiana, Michigan, Kentucky, Ohio, Georgia, Florida and Alabama, with the postoffice inspectors always just one jump behind the forgers until the arrests in Mobile, Mr. Johnston said. The men gave their names as William Stanley and William Aubrey

MUSSOLINI SEEKS
NEW FRENCH PACT

Rome, December 15.—Benito Mussolini told his cabinet today that he would be willing to meet Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France to pave the way for a better understanding between the two countries.

It Duce's announcement was greeted with unbounded satisfaction in Rome among fascist leaders and diplomatic representatives of many countries, and was regarded as the most important Italian diplomatic move in recent history.

There are several outstanding questions to be settled between the two countries which, in view of the evident good will of the French and Italian foreign offices, are almost certain to be satisfactorily solved.

The Italian dictator's conference with Foreign Minister Briand is expected to take place about the end of March or in early April.

FRENCH SEEK NEW PACT TO OUTLAW WAR

Washington, December 15.—(AP)—French proposals for a treaty outlawing war now are expected by administration officials here to influence materially the drafting of an agreement to replace the Franco-American arbitration pact which expires next February 27.

The French suggestions for new peace arrangements became active today after having been dormant so far as was discernible since they were brought back from Paris by Ambassador Herrick who is now preparing to return to his post, January 14. The ambassador continued his conferences with Secretary Kellogg, saw Paul Claudel, the French ambassador, at the state department and later visited the white house to discuss the treaty question with President Coolidge.

At the state department it was said the Briand treaty proposals already had been discussed between Secretary Kellogg and Ambassador Claudel.

A U T O TRAVELERS
LAUD IMPROVEMENT
IN GEORGIA ROADS

John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway board, announced Thursday that a number of letters have been received from tourists passing through the state in which they have praised the improvement that has been made in several of the important trunk roads.

In one of these letters, written by Ray D. Cuneo, of 20 East Gay street, Columbus, Ohio, a detailed description of the highway from Ohio to Florida, through Kentucky, Tennessee and Georgia, is given.

"The bugbear with everybody," writes Mr. Cuneo, "has been Georgia, but that bugbear is soon to be history. When you have finally succeeded in building a paved highway from the Tennessee line to the Florida line you will immediately notice a tremendous increase in traffic."

EMORY GLEE CLUB
TO SING CAROLS
SUNDAY NIGHT

For the third Christmas season the Emory Glee club will sing its Christmas carols. The club sings Sunday night, December 18, at the First Presbyterian church at 7:30 o'clock.

A program of carol numbers has been arranged by Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey, director, and Dr. Charles Shelton, city organist and director of music for the Presbyterian church.

The program will be composed of carols which have mostly come down for many centuries from many nations. The first one which will be sung is "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones," an old seventeenth century German melody, arranged by Davidson. Additional carols will be "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming," from the sixteenth century by Praetorius; "While By My Sheep," "The Holy Mother Sings," "Bring a Torch" and Guber's "Silent Night."

"Adeste Fideles" will be the final carol. This is a quartet number, in which the leading part is taken by the Glee club quartet. A choral background for the number will be supplied by the whole club.

Dr. Shelton will play a group of organ solos, Sam Proger, student violinist, will play a violin solo, "Ave Maria."

Safety Council Meet.

The Georgia Safety council will hold a meeting at the state capitol December 20 at 10 o'clock a. m. to discuss a program of work for 1939. It was announced Thursday by O. R. Bennett, chairman.

Power Company Sends $400,000 Check to City

I. S. Mitchell, treasurer of the Georgia Power company, Thursday morning sent to the city of Atlanta a check for $400,000, the company's contribution towards construction of the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts.

The check came in accordance with a contract between the city and the company by which the contribution was to be made for the right to place traction service tracks across the bridges and on condition that the city keep the present anti-jittery ordinances in effect. In the event the

J. M. B. HOXSEY, FORMER ATLANTAN, VISITS SON HERE

J. M. B. Hoxsey, for many years an outstanding figure in Atlanta business circles and one of the most indefatigable workers for civic welfare the city has ever known, is a visitor here this week, the guest of his son, J. M. Hoxsey, Jr.

Mr. Hoxsey was connected with the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company for 33 years, of which 23 were spent in Atlanta. At the time of his resignation, January 15, 1926, he was first vice president and treasurer of the company. He resigned in order to become manager of the office of the committee of the New York Stock exchange, one of the most important executive positions on Wall street.

LOCAL Y. M. C. A. REFLECTS STAFF

The entire list of officers, as well as members of the board of directors whose terms expired at this time, were selected at the annual election of the board at the Atlanta Y. M. C. A. held Thursday at the headquarters of the association on Luckie street.

Officers re-elected were Charles F. Stone, president; Lawrence Willett, vice president; S. F. Boykin, treasurer; and Floyd Field, recording secretary.

Two new members were elected to the board of directors in the persons of W. B. Spann, vice president of the Citizens & Southern National bank, and William F. Milburn, manager of the Addressograph company.

Work of the association along physical, intellectual, social and spiritual lines for the benefit of young men and boys of Atlanta is in prosperous and growing condition, according to the reports of the various departments presented at Thursday's meeting.

Directors who met in the afternoon and who were re-elected to the board, include Floyd Field, Charles M. Marshall, W. Frank Smith, Willis A. Sutton and George Winship. Other members of the board are S. C. Dobbs, J. K. Orr, F. Frank Fair, Charles F. Pottinger, J. Edgar Riley, Charles F. Stone, Milton W. Bell, Francis E. Kamper, S. F. Boykin, E. Warren Moore, F. J. Coolidge, Jr., and Lawrence Willett.

Plans for a Christmas dinner to be given 350 Atlanta members on Tuesday night next were approved at the meeting.

DAVIS SEEKS 'CZAR' TO END COAL ROWS

Washington, December 15.—(AP)—Appointment of a "czar" to bring order out of chaos in the nation's coal industry, was suggested by Secretary of Labor Davis today at the conclusion of an unsuccessful attempt to effect a peace agreement in the soft coal fields before Christmas.

Davis described the present situation in the coal industry as a menace to national prosperity and a liability rather than an asset to the nation. He asserted that the job of bringing it to order is beyond the reach of any federal authority and recommended either legislation or the voluntary appointment by the industry of a man of the type of Charles Evans Hughes, of New York, to take control of the coal business.

Favors Mine Control.

"If ever an industry needed a 'czar,' coal is that industry," Davis said. "This conference of operators and miners, called for the purpose of bringing about peace in the soft coal fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia developed the suggestion of congressional action of some kind for the stabilization of the industry."

The other way out is for leaders in coal to submit the industry to control by an umpire or overlord. If they did that they would bring about order and stabilization at a stroke."

Joint Committee Recedes.

Davis reported that the committee of three operators and three miners from the Pennsylvania-Ohio soft coal fields recessed today but will confer again if the secretary decides such action would be useful.

A resolution which would empower President Coolidge to seize the bituminous coal mines and operate them as the property of the government was introduced today by Representative Berger, socialist, of Wisconsin.

TWO U. S. JUDGES ARE DISQUALIFIED TO ACT ON BILL

Two Georgia judges held themselves disqualified to act in a petition filed in a suit between banks because of an interest in the defendant bank, it was announced Thursday when a bill in equity involving the Fulton National bank of Atlanta as plaintiff and the Atlanta & Lowry National bank as one of the defendants was filed in the United States district court.

Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley held himself disqualified to sit in the case because he is a stockholder in the Atlanta & Lowry National bank. Federal Judge William J. Tibon, of Macon, held himself disqualified because Mrs. Tibon is a stockholder. Federal Judge William C. H. Barrett, of Augusta, consented to act in the case and ordered the bill filed.

The petition involves a claim of Fulton National, as trustee for the Oppenheim Cigar company, against the Atlanta & Lowry National, J. H. and L. H. Oppenheim. The petition concerns the bankruptcy of the Oppenheim Cigar company, which was adjudicated following filing of an involuntary petition on February 20, 1923. The plaintiff bank, as trustee, seeks to collect $27,750 with interest from the defendants in a matter involving alleged transfer of that amount to the defendant bank by the Oppenheims.

The petition seeks a temporary restraining order to prevent the Oppenheims from disposing of real estate. Judge Barrett granted the temporary order.

Cold To Follow Rain's Cessation This Afternoon

Blizzards now raging in the northwest will affect Georgia weather conditions by Friday night and Saturday morning, according to the forecast made Thursday afternoon by C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist in charge of the local station of the U. S. weather bureau.

The cold will reach this state in the evening, and Mr. von Herrmann does not look for anything out of the ordinary in temperatures for this time of the year. It will probably remain cloudy, with considerable rainfall, until late this afternoon, and the mercury will begin to drop by this evening.

Friday morning's minimum temperature is not expected to be much below 30 degrees, however, and the Fahrenheit readings are expected to show a range between 30 and 35 for the day. It is possible that there will be a drop to 25 degrees by Saturday morning, although Mr. von Herrmann hesitates to make specific predictions so far in advance. He can't say how much moderation will work on the day air on its way here from the northwest.

Thursday's temperature range was from 59 degrees in the early morning to a maximum of 64 in the mid-afternoon.

Capitol Romance Ends as Couple Weds in Florida

Two popular officials of the state department of education "pulled a surprise" on their friends at the capitol Thursday when they were married at Miami, Fla., and notified M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools. The two officials were Miss Alma Norris, chief clerk of the department of education, and E. A. Pound, state high school supervisor.

Miss Norris left for Miami about two weeks ago on a vacation trip. Mr. Pound left Atlanta Monday ostensibly to make an official inspection of a high school at Waycross. The news of the wedding received Thursday showed that Mr. Pound had gone to Florida after his inspection at Waycross and had brought a capitol romance to a happy culmination in the wedding.

Both officials are popular in state-house circles. Miss Norris formerly was executive secretary in the office of Governor John M. Slaton and has served for several years as chief clerk of the department of education.

Mr. Pound has been connected with

ST. MARK'S CHURCH TO HOLD SPECIAL SERVICES FOR DEAF

There will be special services for the deaf at St. Mark's church Sunday at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Samuel M. Freeman will preach in the lecture room at that hour.

The entire service will be in the sign language. Hymns, prayer and sermon will be given without utterance of word of the mouth, but will be rendered in the beautifully expressive sign language of the deaf.

Mr. Freeman resumes his work after an interruption caused by a serious illness. No sermons have been given since September. St. Mark's has featured these sermons for some years, with fine results. Mr. Freeman's ministry reaches the deaf not only by his signs, but by his long experience as a teacher for thirty years at the Georgia School for the Deaf at Cave Spring.

The deaf and their friends are urged to attend this special service.

STATE WILL PROSECUTE QUAIL BUYERS, SELLERS

The state game and fish department will prosecute vigorously any person or persons charged with selling quail to hotels, restaurants or to individuals. It was announced Thursday by Peter S. Twitty, state game and fish commissioner. To stimulate interest of local officers in such cases a reward of $50 for the arrest and conviction of such persons was announced.

Commissioner Twitty said it is a violation of the law to buy quail as well as to sell them. He said he would prosecute buyers as vigorously as sellers.

SECOND BAPTISTS' YULE CELEBRATION WILL AID POOR

The Christmas celebration of the Second Baptist Sunday school will be held at the twilight service Sunday at 5 o'clock, and every member of the Sunday school and church is invited to hear the children sing with the choir.

A Cross-section of Atlanta

If you could sit in the Fulton National for a week, you would see representative Atlanta passing in review. For Atlantans of every social and business level are among the Friends of Fulton.

We serve representatives of nearly every branch of Atlanta business. Men, women and children maintain their accounts here. Big concerns and little concerns come in for counsel and to transact their affairs.

And every one of them experiences the same friendly spirit which pervades all transactions between this bank and the Friends of Fulton. No matter is too small to receive the most thorough attention. No person is so humble that the bank is not prepared to render him its service to the fullest extent.

Service of that kind—expert, complete banking service, humanized, is the reason the Fulton National is Atlanta's fastest growing bank. You will appreciate it, too, when you become a Friend of Fulton.

Warrant Issued For New York's Pet "Countess"

Washington, December 15.—Stripped of her title of "countess" and "baroness" and curiously labeled an undesirable alien, the department of labor today began proceedings which may place the Atlantic between Mme. Bronislawa de Poleschenko and the smart New York society where she prospered as an exotic pet, ostensibly supremely interested in raising money for European charities.

Warrants for her arrest as an undesirable alien have been issued and charges of "moral turpitude"—such as figured in the famous Countess of Cathcart proceedings two years ago—are now being investigated, Commissioner General of Immigration Harry E. Hull, announced tonight. A charity ball she intended to hold here tomorrow night has been abandoned.

ATLANTA MARINES TO HOLD MILITARY DANCE TONIGHT

The annual military ball of Marcus W. Beck, Jr., detachment, Marine Corps league, which will start at 9 o'clock tonight in Zeff hall, in the Auditorium-Armory, will be one of the most colorful events of the season, final plans of the Atlanta detachment, disclosed Thursday, predicted.

Ticket sales have mounted during the last two days until only a few under 2,000 have been reported.

Officers and men in active service and those formerly connected with the marine corps, the army and the navy, will attend. Hundreds of Atlantans who have been interested in service affairs have been invited. The public has been asked by the detachment to join in making the event the most successful so far held.

MILLER TO GET HEARING TODAY

Soperton, Ga., December 15.—(AP)—Frank Miller, held by the coroner's jury for the killing of Clayton Newsome near Soperton several weeks ago, has asked for a commitment hearing and it has been set for tomorrow here.

Miller has been held in the Mount Vernon jail since the day following the killing, while six women held as accomplices have been held in Soperton jail. Five of them, Mrs. Emma Catts and four daughters, are held as accessories in the crime. Miller was at the Catts' home on the night of the killing and the women state first that the fatal shot was fired by the young woman.

Newsome entered the door after he had called for Louise Catts and she had gone to the door to talk with Newsome.

SEEK NEW TRUE BILLS IN INDIANA KLAN QUIZ

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Indianapolis, Ind., December 15.—A fourth court grand jury will be asked by its predecessor to plumb further the Indiana political corruption charges when it convenes in January.

That became evident tonight when it was revealed a mass of evidence still confronts the present inquisitorial body, which by statute must end its work before New Year's. More indictments are expected to be returned before Christmas by the present jury.

There have been repeated statements that "the scandal probe is about over."

Each time the grand jury itself has replied that the investigation is not over. Its latest rejoinder was to bring 13 C. C. Stephens again from state prison yesterday to testify about this regime as a Klan dragon in Indiana politics.

It now seems that the grand jury will not be able to complete its work to its own satisfaction, even by working up to midnight, January 1.

REVISED PRAYER BOOK DEFEATED BY LORDS

London, December 15.—(United News.)—Overwhelmingly approved by the house of lords and regarded as certain of passage in the other house of parliament, the revised prayer book measure was defeated tonight by the house of commons, 247 to 205.

The vote was the most surprising in years and presented grave difficulties between the Church of England and the state. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin had spoken in favor of the measure. First Lord of the Admiralty, W. C. Bridgeman, who introduced the motions in commons, had stressed the necessity for modernization of the book which had not been touched since 1662.

In the house of lords, the Archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Church of England, had urged its passage, declaring that failure to do so would mean "renewed strife."

For a score of years this revised book had been the subject of heated debate. The Bishop of Norwich, chief opponent among the lords spiritual, had characterized the book as a "leap in the dark."

The commons' vote stunned both political circles and the church. Those who could speak most authoritatively declared they would have to think hard before being able to predict the consequences of the defeat.

BATON ROUGE PLANS TO MODEL AIRPORT AFTER LOCAL FIELD

James T. Amis and R. A. Whitaker, of Baton Rouge, arrived in Atlanta Thursday to inspect, lighting equipment, topography and other features of Candler air field with a view to construction of an airport in the Louisiana city.

Inspection of the local airport with a view to modeling the Baton Rouge field after Candler field was decided upon following recommendation by W. O. Snyder, government aviation light-house inspector.

Amis and Whitaker said that Louisiana State university has contributed 150 acres to the city for use as an airport. They brought greetings from Mayor W. H. Byrum, of Baton Rouge, to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale.

Dublin Man's Guilt In Whipping Youth Upheld by Court

The state court of appeal this week affirmed the judgment of the Dublin city court which found J. C. Fowler guilty, on September 10, of a misdemeanor in connection with alleged mistreatment of a child.

It was charged that Fowler "did unlawfully torture, deprive of necessary substance, mutilate, cruelly and unreasonably and maliciously beat and ill treat a minor child." Evidence was adduced before the Dublin court to show that the child—Gus Boyles—was whipped with a "flexible" plow-line, large stick, fist and whips.

VOLUNTEERS ESTABLISH SPECIAL XMAS OFFICE

With exceptionally heavy demands for relief at Christmas time facing them this year, the Volunteers of America have established a special Christmas headquarters at 168 Whitehall street and are issuing special appeals to the public to contribute liberally, so that the helpless women and children who look to them as their only hope for a breath of Christmas cheer may not know the pangs of utter disappointment.

Volunteer workers are located on all streets in the downtown section of the city.

The pastor's Christmas message, and enjoy the pageant by the Fidelis class of young women. This pageant will present the idea of giving, and promptly at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning, December 25, gifts from every class in the Sunday school will be received on the platform of the Sunday school room, and placed in care of Ernest F. Brown, who will be ready with automobiles to assist the representatives of each class in distributing these gifts to the less fortunate. Teachers are requested to send names of homes to be visited to Mr. Brown at the earliest opportunity. Distribution of gifts will have ample time to return for the morning service, by the pastor, Dr. Carter Helm Jones. At the Sunday school hour the "Birth of Christ" will be shown by moving pictures. L. A. Witherspoon is program chairman, and John S. Spalding Sunday school superintendent.

AERONAUTIC DINNER SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Elaborate plans have been made by Atlanta chapter of the National Aeronautic association for a dinner at 7 o'clock tonight at the Ansley hotel in celebration of the 24th anniversary of the first flight made by Orville Wright.

Aviation films have been secured from the war department for the meeting tonight. Election of new officers is scheduled. Henderson Hallman, has resigned as president following his appointment as governor of Georgia of the national association, while Wiley T. Wright, secretary, has left the city. John K. Otley, Jr., is vice president, and W. Baxter Maddox secretary.

Directors are: Henderson Hallman, John K. Otley, Jr., W. Baxter Maddox, Wiley T. Wright, Colonel Charles H. Danforth, Colonel Earl D'A. Pearce, Lieutenant Edgar E. Glenn, P. A. Wilson-Lawrence, John S. Cohen, Clark Howell, C. E. Cooke, E. K. Large, Milton Dargan, Jr., William B. Hartsfield and Douglas Davis.

BROCK AND SCHLEE AGAIN POSTPONE ENDURANCE FLIGHT

Daytona Beach, Fla., December 15.—(AP)—Continued bad flying weather along eastern Florida today caused a second postponement in the take-off of Brock and Schlee and William S. Brock, famous distance flyers, in an effort to break the world's endurance flight record.

Announcement of further delay was made by T. H. Kinkade, field engineer of the Wright Aeronautical association, in charge of the flight, after he had made weather observations this morning.

Another attempt to take off will be made tomorrow.

UNIQUE LIQUOR CACHE FOUND; MAN ARRESTED

A new hiding place for whisky was revealed Thursday in a hearing before United States Commissioner L. S. Lee. Better, W. H. Burke, charged with possessing 12 pints of liquor concealed in the new post of a stairway, was held for the federal grand jury under $200 bond. The cache was discovered by accident after an exhaustive search of the building, the officers said.

FLORIDA SOLON NOT IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

HOOKS JURORS STILL LOCKED

Americus, Ga., December 15.—(AP)—After being out 20 and one-half hours considering the case of Sammy Hooks, a youth charged with attempted assault on a prominent young woman of this city, a superior court jury reported to the court tonight that it appeared to be hopelessly deadlocked, but it was ordered to continue its deliberations.

Shortly after 9 o'clock, the foreman apprised the court that the jurymen stood 10 to 2 without indicating whether for conviction or acquittal, and declared there seemed no chance of a verdict. He added that the jury appeared to be deadlocked on a question of fact and not of law.

Judge McLaughlin, expressing a hope that a verdict ultimately would be agreed upon, ordered the jury locked up for the night with instructions that it endeavor to reach a decision. He announced that he would be ready to receive a report at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Georgia Husband Is Family 'Boss,' States Tribunal

Despite some modern comment to the contrary, the husband is still the head of the family—so far as the Georgia state court of appeals is concerned, anyway.

The court this week affirmed the judgment of the Valdosta city court, rendered July 18, sentencing Charlie George, Valdosta, to 12 months on the state prison farm on a charge of having liquor. Evidence showed that 75 pints of whisky were found at his place of residence.

Motion for a new trial was overruled by the lower court, the defendant taking exception and appealing to the state tribunal.

"Other people live in the house besides me," the evidence quotes George as saying. Judge Roscoe Luke, of the appellate court, quoted in his decision a previous ruling of the court which said:

"In this state the husband is recognized by law as the head of the family, and where he and his wife reside together, the legal presumption is that the house and all the household effects, including any intoxicating liquors, belong to the husband as the head of the family."

Widow Acquitted.

Center, Texas, December 15.—(AP)—After deliberating all night, a criminal court jury here today acquitted

Mrs. Ludie May, mother of six, of a May Gibbed, her young widowed rival charge of having murdered Mrs. Zona for her husband's affections.

THIS SLENDER, BEAUTIFUL GAS HEATROLA DOES AWAY WITH ONE-ROOM HEATERS

SMART BEAUTIFUL

HERE'S what thousands have been waiting for—an Estate Heatrola for Gas. An ornamental, cabinet-like piece of furniture with gleaming mahogany surface and truly aristocratic lines, that brings luxurious, whole-house warmth to small homes.

Install it in your living room, among your other fine things, and you can do away with troublesome one-room heaters. For one fume-tight Gas Heatrola will heat three to five rooms—more thoroughly, more healthfully, more economically!

Of course you know about the Estate coal-burning Heatrola—the famous heating plant that looks like a phonograph and works like a furnace.

Well, the new Gas Heatrola is first, last and all the time—a genuine Heatrola! Built on the same principle, in the same factory, it possesses the same exclusive features and gives the same fine results.

Come see the Estate Gas Heatrola in our gas display room, 84 Walton Street. Learn all about its many fine features and about our convenient easy-payment plan. Or telephone WALNUT 6121 and ask one of our representatives to call at your home.

Christmas Spirit Brings Joy To Sobbing Newsie

YOUNGSTER GETS "KIMONY" FOR MOTHER

BY BEN COTHMAN.

He was a tiny little lad, hardly able to see over the top of the counter. In one grubby fist were some coins and two crumpled pieces of currency. His clothes were grimy and worn. His face was streaked with dirt. Under one arm were two or three papers.

Now what would a small young newsie be doing looking at corduroy kimonos?

He stood on tiptoe, looked the robes over and his gaze lighted on one that struck his fancy. He dug a fist down into one pocket and pulled out a handful of coins and some bills, gazing steadily at the robes.

"Hey, lady!" In this manner did he address a salesgirl. She was busy, but looked around. The kid could hardly see over the top of the counter and the girl didn't see him.

"Hey, lady!" This time more emphatically. Also he stood on tiptoe and got the top of his head within the woman's line of vision. She came over.

"Something for you, little boy?" "Yes'm. How much're they kimonos?"

"Seven ninety-five. Do you want one?"

"Yes'm. Lemme have that red 'un over there."

"Well, I gotta have your money first."

"There ain't but two dollars and ninety-five cents here. I told you these were seven ninety-five."

His money lost.

Tears welled in a pair of frank, honest blue eyes. Came an anxious, frantic search of various pockets. Down on his hands and knees he went, and explored the floor. No luck.

He stood up. "Lady, I had all the money. Can't you lemme pay you that and then come back with the rest?"

"No, I have to have your money. If you haven't it, you can't have the robe."

This had required some few minutes and attracted the attention of a number of people.

"The kid was crying now, his entire body shaking with his sobs."

Up stepped a prosperous looking, well-dressed, middle-aged man.

"What's the matter, son?"

"I was gonna buy my mother a kimono for Christmas, 'cause she's sick and needs one to keep her warm. I been saving up a long time to get her one and now I lost five dollars and this lady says I can't get it. I had all the money when I came in here. The sobs came more frequently and were increasing in force. Remember, he was only five or six years old, and he wanted to give his mother that kimono."

Sunshine After Teap.

"Well, now, son, that's too bad. Maybe you dropped it. Let's look around and see. Come on now, brace up. You can find it. Both of 'em."

The kid looked one way, the man another.

Unobserved, he drew out a five dollar bill, crumpled it up and threw it over against the counter.

Then: "Look, son. What's that over there?"

The youngster reached over, picked up the bill, smoothed it out. "That's it! That's it!" The tears disappeared. He jumped up, waving the bill in one hand. "Here it is, lady. Now I kin get that kimono. Lemme have it, quick!"

He got it, quick. The shoppers, dispersed, among the first being the benefactor. There were tears in the eyes of some of them. The youngster dashed joyfully out of the store with that kimono wrapped up and safely under his arm. He was happy. His Christmas had been saved.

They say it's a hard-boiled world—that man cares nothing for his fellow.

Well, maybe so.

DIVORCED FROM 2, MAN IS MARRIED TO THIRD SISTER

Virginia, Ill., December 15.—(United Press.)—Warren Spillers, of Fredrick, Ill., believed that his fate and happiness were bound up with the Resman family. So he married into it, taking one of three daughters as his bride.

The first romance ended in a divorce court, but Warren was not discouraged. He married his divorced wife's sister. Again he found it necessary to dissolve the union and the courts obliged him.

Today Spillers is married to the third Resman sister.

SENATE GETS PLAN TO COMPLETE DAM AT MUSCLE SHOALS

Washington, December 15.—(AP)—Authorization for the secretary of war to complete dam No. 2 at Muscle Shoals and the steam plant at nitrate plant No. 2 near Muscle Shoals, again was sought today in a resolution introduced by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, who is ill.

Under the legislation, the war department would be authorized to sell electric contract to states, counties, municipalities and corporations with 10-year contracts from January 1, 1929, and also would be authorized to construct transmission lines, either from appropriations made by congress or from funds derived from the sale of power.

SENATE GETS MEASURE FOR GOLDEN GATE SPAN

Washington, December 15.—(AP)—A bill to bridge San Francisco bay was introduced today by Senator Johnson, republican, California. The structure would extend from Rincon hill in the city and county of San Francisco to a point near the south mole of San Antonio estuary in the county of Alameda.

GARRISON PROMOTED AT TERMINAL STATION

Henry C. Garrison, for the past 15 years station master at the Atlanta Terminal station, was named superintendent Thursday afternoon to succeed the late Captain E. F. Stollenwerk, and John C. Hixon, chief clerk to superintendent since January 1, 1918, was appointed assistant superintendent. The appointments were made by President R. B. Pegram, of the Atlanta Terminal company.

Mr. Garrison was born in Gillsville, Ga., and in 1880, when a boy in knee pants, entered railway service as messenger boy and cotton marker at Douglasville, Ga., for the Georgia Pacific railway, now the Birmingham division of the Southern. He learned telegraphy at Douglasville and two years later went to Tallulah Falls as agent and operator. He subsequently served as operator for the Georgia Pacific and Central of Georgia at various points and in 1900 came to the Union station in Atlanta as chief operator. In March, 1911, he went to the Terminal station as chief operator. He lives at 1005 Crescent avenue, N. E.

Mr. Hixon is a native of Louisville, Ala., and entered as stenographer with the mechanical department of the Louisville & Nashville. He held clerical positions with the Atlantic Coast Line and West Point route prior to his connection with the Atlanta Terminal company. He lives at 375 Clifton road, N. E.

Benjamin J. Post was appointed station master to succeed Mr. Garrison. S. A. Wardlaw was promoted to second chief station master to succeed Mr. Post and W. E. Beasley, formerly chief operator, was promoted to night station master to succeed Mr. Wardlaw.

CREW OF GROUNDED SCHOONER REACHES KEY WEST BY OARS

Key West, Fla., December 15.—(AP)—After tugging at the oars for thirteen hours, Captain O. Scott and his crew of four men of the schooner Albert Meyer, Mobile, reached Key West today and reported the craft hard ashore and in a dangerous condition at Marquesa, 15 miles from Key West.

The schooner was sent to the scene during the day and reported little prospect of floating the vessel, said to be more than 20 years old and owned by L. A. Scott company, Mobile.

J. P. LEACH RESIGNS PULLMAN CO. POST AFTER 46 YEARS

John Patrick Leach, former resident of Atlanta, will retire at the end of this year from active service with the Pullman company, after more than 46 years' continuous work, embracing many phases of the business.

This announcement is made in the December issue of "Pullman," house organ of the company.

Mr. Leach, a native of Boston, entered the service of the Pullman company as a conductor in 1881. He later held positions as commissary agent, assistant and receiving cashier, assistant district superintendent and district superintendent. He has been located in Boston, Jersey City, Atlanta, Memphis and Chicago.

Mr. Leach was district superintendent with headquarters at Atlanta for seven years, from 1891 to 1898, at which time he was transferred to a similar position in the Memphis office. The announcement of his retirement will be read with interest by many friends in Atlanta.

Miners' Children Wonder If Santa Will Find Them

Columbus, Ohio, December 15.—(AP)—Thinly clad youngsters by the thousands, some of them without shoes, are wondering if Santa Claus will find the Ohio coal mining district this Christmas.

Many of their fathers have been idle since April 1 when the United Mine Workers' union and the coal operators disagreed over a wage scale and mining was suspended.

Eight months of payless days have left many homes without sufficient heat and many children and women improperly clothed.

If Santa comes, he must be guided into the mining fields by relief organizations or by the officials of the union. State officials of the union were in Washington today for the wage conference between operators and miners called by Secretary of Labor Davis, but several district leaders indicated they would take some action to bring a bit of cheer to the miners' homes.

The holiday season comes on with the deadlock over wages holding fast. The operators declare they will employ any man who wants to work at a wage in competition with non-union fields in surrounding states.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR SALE OF UTILITIES STOCK UNDER WAY

Philadelphia, December 15.—(AP)—Announcement was made today that negotiations are in progress for the sale of nearly 100,000 shares of stock of the National Public Service company, which has utility plants in many states, to E. H. Rollins and Sons, New York, and Howe, Snowe & Co., Inc., New York.

The company is a holding concern with subsidiaries in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Florida. None of the stock to be sold affects Georgia utilities.

WADE JOHNSON'S LAST APPEAL TURNED DOWN

The final appeal of Wade Johnson, Jones county white man under a death sentence following his conviction of a statutory offense, has been denied by the United States court of appeals, according to information received Thursday by T. R. Gress, assistant attorney general. A mandate affirming the death sentence and denying a writ of habeas corpus sought by Johnson was received by Mr. Gress Thursday.

NEW YORK, December 15.—(P)—

Continuation of yesterday's buying movement was reflected by further advances in the cotton market today. January contracts selling up to 18.70 or 21 points above yesterday's closing quotation and 50 points above the 1910 level of Tuesday. January closed at 18.65, the general market closing very steady at net advances of 15 to 22 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 16 points on overnight buying orders brought in by the former tone of the previous day. The bullish view of yesterday's report on domestic consumption. Buying also was reported on the relatively firm tone of Liverpool, but the initial demand met realizing and there were reactions in the forenoon under a renewal of old long liquidation and southern selling.

March sold off to 18.54 and May to 18.69, net declines of 14 to 16 points on active markets, but offerings tapered off at the lower level, prices firming up again, with covering by earlier sellers coming in. March advanced to 18.69, net advance of 15 to 22 points.

Higher prices of the day were reached in late trading. March closing at 18.91 and May at 19.05. The close was within 2 or 3 points of the day.

There were rumors during the day of a better demand for cotton goods.

but nothing definite developed in that connection, and the advance was more generally attributed to the bullish influence of the November consumption figures, the former ruling of Liverpool and an improved technical position in the futures market here, than to any fresh factor in the day's news.

Cloth business improved. Private cables said the advance in Liverpool was due to covering, and trade calling with Continentals and Bombay buying, adding that there was more cloth business with India at low prices, also an improved demand for South America with a fair business pending.

Houses with Liverpool connections were among the buyers here and the opinion was expressed in some quarters that with improved demand for cotton cloths, Lancashire was beginning to show more interest in the raw material.

COTTON STRAID AS PRICES ADVANCE

New Orleans, December 15.—(P)—Reports of a possible congressional investigation of government cotton crop in Egypt had a steady influence in the market for that commodity here today and January contracts which had eased off to 18.42 in early trading rallied to 18.77 and closed at 18.75, 15 points up. The general market closed steady at net advances of 11 to 15 points.

The market opened steady in sympathy with relatively firm Liverpool cables. First trading showed gains of 9 to 11 points and the market advanced slightly after the start until January receipts reached 18.69, May 19.00, 10 to 11 points up.

The higher levels induced a renewal of long liquidation in advance of the 18.75, 15 points up. The general market closed steady at net advances of 11 to 15 points. The market opened steady in sympathy with relatively firm Liverpool cables. First trading showed gains of 9 to 11 points and the market advanced slightly after the start until January receipts reached 18.69, May 19.00, 10 to 11 points up.

After a period of quiet the market turned firm in the afternoon on shorts covering and reports from Washington that a bill had been introduced in the senate providing for investigation of government crop reports. More favorable reports from Carolina mills helped the firmness. January rallied to 18.77 and May to 18.75, 15 points up. The general market closed steady at net advances of 11 to 15 points.

Exports for the day totaled 32,881 bales.

offices underwent a late setback today after showing an early upward trend. Enlarged selling pressure developed, especially in the market for tin, on account of expectation that the Argentine government crop report released for tomorrow would prove bearish. Tin net lead closed heavy, 3-4c to 1-1 1/4c. Figures, with some of the day's bottom

Much of the late selling of wheat was to speculative buyers in this stock by houses with New England wires. American smelters having large interests in Mexico was also one of the leaders. Some public utility companies were buying in this stock by some mightily good buying going on in steel common.

A stock paying 7 per cent dividends selling at 140 offers an income return of exactly 5 per cent.

contracts on which the holders desired to avoid accepting a loss. The series, Tenders of such deliveries today, resulted in 215,000 bushels today, which handed over in settlement of December accounts here. Besides, Canadian continued easy, latest figures being 1,773,000 bushels for November and 1,773,000 bushels for September.

On a few running sales the price breaks from 77 3-4 to 74 1-4. This year's low price for Wright Aeronautical is 24 1-2. With Prices declined readily toward the close of the session earlier in the week, but the market showed signs of recovery because of rumors that rains in Argentina would bring the harvest outlook. Export demand from North America was only fair, with sales totaling 300,000 to 500,000 bushels in the past week.

Profit-taking sales in the corn market and speculative pressure as well as the fact that the market is still in the hands of a few large holders of long stock in the port will make profits this year which will be the highest in years.

Somewhere in the neighborhood of $750,000,000 will be distributed in year-end dividends payable in semi-annual distributions. There is a heavy concentration on the part of holders of long stock in the port to take profits this year which will be the highest in years.

Prices of some stocks have been marked up 100 per cent or more this year, and it is probable that there have been churning. These pools standing that commission houses were persistent buyers throughout the year. An overnight bulge of 2 5-8c at the shell at Buenos Aires failed to hold, and there was a foreboding of a next year's income tax payments beginning March 15. Because of these two factors together with continued easy money the feeling is that for the remainder of this month at least the market will be marking the price up because their holdings were increasing on balance. The big outside public which for months had been standing aside looking on, suddenly decides that it is rather for cribbing, and of favorable prices for 355,000 bushels of corn and 100,000 bushels of soybeans. Chicago December contracts. Oats were moderate. The action of corn was helped by the fact that the market was helped by correct belief that the acreage statement after the 15th closed would show a decrease in crops on hand.

THE CONSTITUTION EXPRESS

Boys

Girls

It's Easy ONLY 3 NEW ^{Daily and Sunday} SUBSCRIPTIONS NEEDED

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION makes it possible for thousands of boys and girls in Georgia, and especially the city of Atlanta and suburbs, to possess the "Constitution Express."

This smooth-running, $\frac{3}{4}$ -in.-tired COASTER WAGON wins its way into the heart of every child that sees it. It's the dandiest COASTER WAGON ever given away by any newspaper. It has a large-sized hardwood body (16x36 inches) finished with glistening varnish and brilliant paint. Heavy steel bolsters front and rear are extra braced. Silent running roller bearings and extra heavy single disc wheels make this the fastest and hand-somest COASTER WAGON that you have ever seen. Tires are solid rubber.

Strong--Swift--Silent

You cannot surpass this handsome "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagon for strength and durability. No old-fashioned wood bolsters to split and crack — The "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" has bolsters of heavy steel. Wheels have roller bearings, just like the big automobiles.

Read These Instructions:

New subscriptions must be from persons not at present subscribers to the Daily and Sunday Constitution, nor have been for the last thirty days, and must not, directly or indirectly, take the place of someone who is now or has been a recent subscriber.

Such new subscriptions will be acceptable in Atlanta and in any town where The Constitution has a carrier delivery service, provided the new subscriptions are acceptable to the carrier.

HOW TO EARN ONE

If you want one of these beautiful "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagons, the first thing to do is to clip out the coupon at the left, bring or mail it to The Constitution for a Contest Book. When you get the book, if "Dad" isn't a subscriber to the Daily and Sunday Constitution, get his subscription first and then you will need two more.

THREE DAILY AND SUNDAY NEW SIX-MONTHS' SUBSCRIPTIONS.

That's all! Just three new Daily and Sunday six-months' subscriptions are required to earn one of these beautifully finished "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagons. You are not to collect any money:

IT'S EASY WORK!

It will take you only a short time to get three new subscribers to The Constitution, because everyone knows that The Atlanta Constitution is Atlanta's outstanding newspaper. Besides helping you earn your "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS," the people who sign the agreement or contract for you are receiving the news of the world, interesting reading articles and features for every member of the family for six months.

Start out right now! It's more like fun than work. Get a contract book, secure from good, reliable, financially responsible subscribers, "signature of each," bring or send it to The Constitution office. After the subscriptions are verified and found "O. K.," the wagon is yours.

Read These Instructions Carefully:

Out-of-town workers must turn their coupon book of subscriptions, after it has been filled out with the required number of subscriptions, each signed by the subscriber himself, over to the local Constitution dealer for his acceptance of the new subscriptions.

Newsdealer will indicate his acceptance by writing on the back of the subscription agreement "O. K., accepted by me," and sign his name. Then the book with required number of accepted subscriptions to be sent to The Constitution.

COASTER WAGONS will be shipped by express (collect) to out-of-town workers. Those who live in Atlanta and suburban towns will get the wagons at The Constitution office.

Xmas Shopping and Parties Divide Society's Attention

Between the busy hours of shopping, society flits from one lovely affair to another—lunching at a beautifully appointed table done in Christmas greens and colors; sipping tea before a cozy log fire where holly wreaths hang suspended by gay red ribbons and crimson candles add a lovely glow, and dancing where the cheer within forms a pleasant contrast to the rain and gloom without. Everywhere there are evidences of the approach of the Yuletide season. The large department stores, the city's clubs and hotels and the private homes are taking on an air of festivity, and a jolly, good-natured throng of shoppers fills the streets everywhere.

Such lovely brides-elect as Misses Margaret Garwood, Louise Cooper and Alice Douglas; such popular debutantes as Misses Edna Belle Raine and Anne Kessnich, and such feteed visitors as Mrs. Sigmund Weil, of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. K. J. Walters, of New York, figure prominently as honor guests at affairs of today.

Mrs. L. G. Hardman, wife of Georgia's governor, and Mrs. Richmond Pearson Davis, wife of General Davis, commander of the fourth corps area, will be central figures at the luncheon which the Dante circle will give at the Druid Hills Golf Club.

St. Philip's Aid To Serve Dinner.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Philip's Cathedral will serve a turkey dinner at the lunch room, 112 East Hunter street, from 12 to 2:30 o'clock today. Dinners are served for 25 and 40 cents.

The committee in charge today includes Mesdames Harry G. Greer, chairman; Jessie Robinson, co-chairman; Eugene Crichton, Carroll Smith, A. D. Boylston, B. L. Owens, Fred Williams, Brader Barker, H. F. Godfrey, DeForest Smith, W. R. Ritter, David B. Mitchell, E. Howell Edwards and Miss Elsie Pioda.

West End Music Club Plans Old-Fashioned Dance.

The West End Woman's club invites all club members and friends to the second old-fashioned dance to be given at the clubhouse December 17, at 7:30 o'clock. A string band will furnish the music for the square dances to be featured and a small admission fee will be charged.

J. A. Holloman was the speaker at the tree planting exercises held at the club Wednesday afternoon when he dedicated a live oak as a living memorial to the late Frank L. Stanton, poet laureate of Georgia.

Mrs. E. W. Brogdon, of the garden committee, will present "Jerusha Don" and her family album at 8 o'clock, December 20, at the clubhouse, 1100 Cascade road. Miss Anne Bowie, well-known expression teacher, will assume the title role for the "family pictures" will be club members. The public is invited and admission will be 25 cents. The garden committee is sponsoring this entertainment as a benefit for the building fund.

Mrs. Carter Helm Jones To Entertain Meeting.

Mrs. Carter Helm Jones will be hostess to the Woman's Missionary and Benevolent society of the Second Baptist church on Thursday, December 22, at 10:30 o'clock in the morning at her home on Penn avenue. This is the last meeting of the year.

Young Matrons' Legion Meets.

The Young Matrons' Service Star Legion of Atlanta held its December meeting Tuesday morning at the Woman's club. Plans for the Christmas activities were discussed. A check for $20 will be sent to the Hospital for the Blind in Baltimore, Md. Christmas at Hospital No. 48 will be the center of interest. Small individual Christmas trees will be placed by the bed of each patient, with two personal gifts. The boys that are able to be up will enjoy a large tree in the hut. All through the hospital Christmas decorations will give the hospital spirit. The days preceding Christmas the young matrons will aid the boys in popping corn for the trees.

Buffet Supper At Hotel Candler.

Misses Elizabeth Boone and Dorothy Taliferro will entertain at a buffet supper at the Hotel Candler Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Mary Catherine Lafferty Weds Charles J. Lynch.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lafferty have issued cards announcing the marriage of their daughter, Mary Catherine, to Charles Joseph Lynch, Jr., formerly of Atlanta, but now of Jacksonville, Fla., on November 23. The ceremony was performed in the Church of the Holy Rosary, with Father James Kevin officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Lafferty, and Mr. Lynch had as his best man P. G. Kenner, Jr., of Atlanta. Only the family and a few intimate friends were present.

Mr. Lynch is a son of Charles Joseph Lynch, of Atlanta, and was graduated at Marietta college and Jefferson college, Louisiana. He holds a prominent position with the General Electric company, of Jacksonville, Florida.

Miss Douglas Is Feted Bride-Elect.

Miss Alice Douglas, a bride-elect of this week, continues to be feted at many lovely parties. This afternoon Mrs. Charles L. Douglas and Mrs. T. P. Wright will honor Miss Douglas at a tea at the home of Mrs. Wright on East Lake road.

Receiving with Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Wright will be Mrs. Anna S. Beane, mother of the groom-elect; Mrs. Joseph H. Douglas and Miss Ruth Douglas, of Brewton, Ala.

Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Wright will be assisted in entertaining by Mrs. J. Walter Bailey and Miss Bertha Douglas.

Miss Douglas and Stewart McComb, whose marriage will be an event of Saturday evening, December 17, at the First Methodist church, were honored at a dinner party by Mr. and Mrs. Harold O. Schilling at the Marietta Golf club Thursday evening.

The invited guests include: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parks Wright, Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dickey, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cornell, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. McComb, Mrs. Trammell Trice, Mrs. J. H. Douglas, of Brewton, Ala.; Miss Ruth Douglas, of Brewton, Ala.; Miss Bertha Douglas, Miss Sarah McArthur, Miss Edith Nelson, Stephen A. Douglas, of Montgomery, Ala.; Roy Mundoff, I. G. Wilkes, Roy Petty.

Miss Grippin Weds

John Hannah Booth

At Home Ceremony

Saratoga, N. Y., December 15.—The marriage of Miss Jean Bennett Grippin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leman A. Grippin, of this city, and John Hannah Booth, of Atlanta, Ga., was solemnized Monday, December 12, at the home of the bride's parent, on Caroline street. The bride wore a gown of shadow blue transparent velvet and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Miss Marjorie Grippin, the bride's sister, was her only attendant. She wore a tan crepe model trimmed with lace to match. Her flowers were pink roses. Ralph A. Mead, the groom's cousin, acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Booth left immediately after the ceremony for New York, from where they sailed for Charleston, S. C., going later to Atlanta, where they will reside at 1022 Springdale road.

Miss Crankshaw Honors Visitors and Debutantes.

Miss Elizabeth Crankshaw entertained at a buffet luncheon Thursday at her home on Piedmont avenue in honor of her guest, Miss Hermione Burkhardt, of Washington, Ga., and Miss Mary Wellborn and Miss Virginia Courts, two charming members of the Debutante club. The charming hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Joseph C. Crankshaw. Miss Crankshaw will entertain informally Christmas afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Atlanta, where they will reside at 1022 Springdale road. The bride is a popular member of Saratoga's social set and has a host of friends interested in her marriage. She was graduated from Saint Faith's school in this city in 1925 and during 1926 she attended Elmira college. Mr. Booth is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene T. Booth, of Atlanta, Ga. He is a graduate of the Georgia School of Technology and a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. At present he is completing a law course at the Atlanta law school.

Uncle Remus Association Honors Mrs. Wilson.

Mrs. Arthur McD. Wilson was honored guest at the luncheon at which the Uncle Remus Memorial association, with which she has been associated for 18 years, entertained at the Atlanta Woman's club Wednesday in celebration of her seventy-second birthday. Mrs. Taylor Connolly was toastmistress. A telegram of greeting was sent from Mrs. H. G. Hastings, who was prevented by illness from being present. Covers were laid for Mesdames Wilson, Sam D. Jones, Spencer Atkinson, J. F. Purser, Warren D. White, Arthur Hazzard, Arthur Hale, Bradford Montgomery, Norman Sells, Banks Whitman, W. B. Price-Smith, Taylor Connolly. After the luncheon the guests repaired to the "Wrens' Nest," where Mrs. Wilson was honored by having a tree planted in her honor by the association. A memorial tree was also planted to the memory of Mrs. E. L. Connolly, the beloved first vice president of the U. R. M. A. Dr. Carter Helm Jones offered the invocation, and as each member placed a shovel of earth around the trees tributes were paid to the wonderful living president and to the memory of the dear departed one.

Georgia chapter No. 127, O. E. S., will hold a Christmas bazar at High-tower Hardware company, No. 132 Whitehall street, S. W., Monday, December 18.

Cook Book Of Service Legion Is Off the Press

In the lexicon of the household "cook book" is full of meaning. The Service Star Legion cook book, containing cherished and valuable recipes from prominent Atlanta women, is off the press and ready for consumption by the housewives of the city. The booklet, which is a complete and varied collection of choice recipes, is a parallel to the congressional cook book published by prominent housewives of the capital city. Editors of the book are Mrs. L. P. Rosser, treasurer of the Atlanta chapter Service Star legion and director of the National Star Legion; Mrs. Sam D. Jones, life president of the Atlanta chapter Service Star legion, associate editor; Mrs. Marjorie W. Beck, first vice president Atlanta chapter Service Star legion, associate editor.

Among the prominent Atlanta women who have contributed to the book are Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, president of the Atlanta Woman's club, who donated a number of her favorite dishes, including one for crystallized cranberries; the late Mrs. E. L. Connolly has contributed; Mrs. Oscar Elsas, Mrs. Ernest Woodruff, Mrs. Irving Thomas, Mrs. J. W. Wilks, Mrs. James R. Gray and Mrs. Vassar Wooley. A bit of old Virginia is presented through the recipe for spoon bread donated by Mrs. Carter Helm Jones; Mrs. A. P. Branley has given her favorite method of making nut bread, and Mrs. John M. Slaton adds a number of her choice dishes. Mrs. John Spaulding tells how she has learned to make laundry soap, and Mrs. Sam D. Jones describes her method of mixing sweetmeats.

The Service Star legion, a national organization of women relatives of men and women of the world war, was organized in 1919 to add appreciation for country, respect for the flag, sympathy and aid to the sick and maimed ex-service men of the world war. The price of the book is 50 cents, the proceeds to be used in relief work for Hospital No. 48 and in helping the families of disabled soldiers.

Miss Eckford Makes Debut At Brilliant Home Reception

Miss Florence Eckford made her formal bow to society Thursday afternoon at one of the most brilliant receptions of the Christmas season, with which her mother, Mrs. Burgess Eckford, entertained at her home on Peachtree circle. The magnificent affair assembled several hundred members of society.

A beautiful arrangement of Christmas greenery, graceful garlands of similar interspersed with calla lilies and poinsettias formed the background for the assembled guests. Mrs. Eckford, Miss Eckford and Mrs. Byron Morrison received the guests in the library before a bank of palms, ferns and tall baskets of flowers in pastel shades. The reception room was a bower of greenery interspersed with lilies and poinsettias. Christmas formed the keynote of the decorations for the beautiful dining room. On the exquisitely appointed table, which was overlaid with a real lace cover, was a mound of red roses and valley lilies, from the center of which rose a silver vase holding red roses and ferns, surrounded at artistic intervals by silver candlesticks holding burning red tapers. On each side of the table were two silver vases holding red roses and valley lilies tied with silver ribbon. An orchestra, seated behind a screen of palms and ferns, rendered delightful musical selections throughout the afternoon.

Miss Eckford was never more lovely than in her robe de style model of blue moire fashioned with tight bodice and ruffled tulle skirt in pastel shades. She wore a shoulder bouquet of orchids and valley lilies and carried a long, old-fashioned bouquet of flowers of delicate varying shades.

Mrs. Eckford wore a handsome model of transparent velvet with front drapery and artistically offset with a rhinestone ornament. Her corsage was of orchids.

Mrs. Morrison was gown in white velvet trimmed in crystals and rhinestones offset by a corsage of orchids and valley lilies.

Miss Gates Eckford, sister of the honor guest, was lovely in a model of pink periwinkle embroidered in crystals. She wore a shoulder spray of orchids and valley lilies.

Little Miss Beverly Morrison, granddaughter of Mrs. Eckford, was daintily in a cream lace frock fastened over pink chiffon. She wore a miniature corsage of tiny pink rose buds. Mrs. T. B. Burgess, grandmother of the honor guest, wore black velvet with a touch of real lace. Her shoulder bouquet was of palm violets. Miss Clara Cole, of Newnan, guest of Miss Eckford, was lovely in a model of flesh-colored velvet offset by a shoulder bouquet of orchids.

Mrs. Eckford was assisted in entertaining her guests by her daughter, Miss Gates Eckford, her mother, Mrs. T. B. Burgess; Miss Clara Cole, of Newnan, the guest of Miss Eckford, and the members of the Debutante club, which included Misses Louise Brumby, Virginia Corbis, Anne Spalding, Mary Harvey, Edna Belle Raine, Mary Inman Pearce, Anne Kessnich, Mary Wallis, Katherine Boyd and Gertrude Harris.

A group of subdebs who assisted included Misses Josephine Hollis, Elizabeth Reid, Marion Wolff, Mary Mosley, Louise Moore, Charles Walter Hill, H. Clay Moore, Charles Haden, Wilmer Moore, Thomas Dent Meador, W. B. Price-Smith, Edward Lewis, Louis Morrison, Frank Callaway, J. L. Campbell, George Ivy, of Charlotte, N. C.; John Hill and Mrs. Rebecca Harman Lindsey.

Orpheus Music Club To Hold Festival.

The annual Christmas festival of the Orpheus Music club will be held in Hall 2, Chamber of Commerce building, Saturday evening, December 17, at 7:30 o'clock. A special musical program has been arranged, including talks on the lives and writings of Beethoven, Bach and Brahms.

Two Christmas trees have been given, and all those who want to assist with gifts are urged to bring them Saturday evening at which time there will be given to a number of children, between the ages of four and 16, who otherwise would have few, if any, of the joys of the holiday season.

The meeting is open to all who are interested in the cause of better musical appreciation and education, and especially in bringing gladness to the hearts of a few of the poor.

Miss Laura Stevens Honors Visitors.

Miss Laura Stevens entertained at an informal bridge party Tuesday afternoon in her home in Druid Hills. The party honored Misses Hazel Rainer and Miss Elsie Winslette, of Easton, Ga.

A few close friends of the hostess were present.

Miss Alice Douglas Is Honor Guest.

Miss Alice Douglas and Stewart McCormick whose marriage will be an event of Saturday evening, December 17, at the First Methodist church, were entertained at a dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Harold O. Schilling at the Marietta golf club Thursday evening. Invited to meet them were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parks Wright, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dicker, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cornell, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCormick, Mrs. Trammell Trice, Mrs. J. H. Douglas, of Brewton, Ala.; Misses Ruth Douglas, of Brewton, Ala.; Bertha Douglas, Sarah McArthur and Edith Nelson, Stephen A. Douglas, of Montgomery, Ala.; Roy Mundroff, L. G. Wilkes and Roy Petty.

Friday afternoon Mrs. Charles L. Douglas and Mrs. T. P. Wright will honor Miss Douglas at a tea from 4 to 6 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Wright on East Lake road. Receiving with them will be Mrs. Annie S. Beane, mother of the groom-elect; Mrs. Joseph H. Douglas and Miss Ruth Douglas, of Brewton, Ala.; Mr. J. Walter Bailey and Miss Bertha Douglas will assist in entertaining.

THE CONNOISSEUR

Mr. Van de View Takes No Stock in Fortune Telling

Mr. van de View's a skeptic with an unbelieveing heart. He doesn't care a rap about the fortune teller's art. And submitting to a palmist at a charity bazaar. Is stretching his endurance and his patience pretty far.

His chair inside the canopy—his fate about to learn. He sees a line of ladies waiting eagerly their turn. Their credulity provokes him to a mood of irritation. But a necklace made of golden ropes restores his admiration.

He is told about the future and about a guiding spirit. But his mind is on the present and he doesn't even hear it. So intent in his approval of the golden filigree. In a necklace on a lady he is fortunate to see.

And while he's given warning of a dangerous brunette. He is secretly admiring one with hair as black as jet. She wears a charming choker made of crystals and of jade. And he laughs and tells the palmist that he's really not afraid.

ARKANSAS FLOODS ABATE; RAINS END

Little Rock, December 15.—(AP)—Sagging temperature and falling rivers tonight lessened Arkansas' new flood menace toni.

Flurries of snow instead of drenched rains brought encouragement to residents of the off-flooded Arkansas and White river valleys, and confidence that levees would withstand the rises prevailed everywhere.

200 NEGROES MAROONED AT BIRMINGHAM.—(AP)—Two hundred negro residents of the Pratt junction section of Birmingham tonight were marooned in their homes inundated with eight feet of water from Valley creek, which went out of its banks today following four days excessive rainfall.

Many other residents today were taken from their homes in boats and astirle horses while others floated themselves out on hastily built rafts. Texado park, another densely populated negro section, also was under water ranging in depth from 2 to 8 feet. Drainage sewers, the only possible outlets for the water, were clogged.

CONGRESS MAY DEFEAT FLOOD RELIEF BILL.—(AP)—Washington, December 15.—(AP)—The prediction at the administration's Mississippi river flood control plan would be rejected by congress was made today by Senator Hawes, democrat, Missouri.

"The entire Mississippi valley has been deceived," he declared.

College Park Couple To Celebrate Golden Anniversary Sunday

Five generations—sixty-six individuals—of a family which in the past 50 years has never known a death nor a divorce, will gather at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Adamson, of College Park, next Sunday. The occasion will be the golden wedding anniversary of the couple.

The five generations include the mother of Mrs. Adamson, who is Mrs. W. C. Daniel. There are 11 children, 49 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren to complete the family circle.

Mr. and Mrs. Adamson both aver that divorce was a thing never heard of when they married fifty years ago and both assert they have been too busy raising their family to think of it since.

FEDERAL LIQUOR MAKING, SELLING PROPOSED IN HOUSE

Washington, December 15.—(AP)—The establishment of "federal liquor dispensaries" and the manufacture and sale of liquor entirely by the federal government were proposed in a resolution today by Representative Sath, democrat, Illinois.

Another representative, Mead, a New York democrat, proposed in a bill to repeal the Volstead act and substitute an "act of temperance of the United States," which would provide that the manufacture and sale of liquor is a misdemeanor and punishable by $100 fine or 30 days imprisonment.

SPELMAN ENTERTAINS PROMINENT EDUCATORS

A special assembly of students and faculty members of Spelman college was held Wednesday in the new Sisters' chapel, in honor of a number of distinguished educators from New York. The special assembly was preceded by a luncheon in honor of the visitors.

During the afternoon members of the Russian Cossack chorus gave a concert in the chapel under the direction of Sergei Sokoloff, conductor.

Among the visitors were Trevor Arnett, of New York, president of the Spelman board of trust; H. J. WIFE DEFENDS FAISON AS STATE ENDS CASE

Richmond, Va., December 15.—(AP)—The commonwealth late today rested its case against John W. Faison, former Hermitage club secretary, charged with the murder of Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes here November 16.

Mrs. John W. Faison, wife of the accused, followed ten other defense witnesses on the stand. Frequent clashes between counsel, in a course of which the defense charged the police cut the telephone wires at the Faison home at the time of serving the warrant and used third-degree methods, marked the questioning of defense witnesses.

The state closed its case after placing Dr. E. M. Pleasant, Dr. C. L. Newland, Dr. Stuart Michaux, Dr. N. Whitfield, Miss Virginia Wright and Detective Sergeant F. O. Organ on the stand.

Mrs. Faison testified her husband brought Mrs. Snipes to their home some time last August to introduce her. She stated that on another occasion Mrs. Snipes, sick and delirious, came to her home and spent the night, and was nursed by her.

BERGEN ELECTED POST COMMANDER FOREIGN VETERANS

R. V. Bergen, was elected post commander of Greater Atlanta post No. 390, Veterans of Foreign wars, at the annual election of officers Thursday night at the chamber of commerce. Other officers are E. Finn, senior vice commander; C. H. Watts, junior vice commander; G. Stewart, quartermaster; O. B. Mitchell, post advocate, and M. G. Fitzhugh, officer of the day.

In answer to a questionnaire sent out by the national organization, the Atlanta post went on record as opposing the system of a veterans' bureau, but offered a number of substitutions proposing operation of the pension and veterans' bureau under one head. It also approved the pension allowances but believes that pensions should range from $20 to $100, depending upon the degree of disability.

The Atlanta post favors the national home. It is opposed to the sale of poppies and pointed out that the Veterans of Foreign Wars were the first to use the sale of poppies as a means of raising money for disabled veterans and their families. The organization discontinued the sale of poppies about three years ago.

Armed Bandits Raid College Office; Flee With $5,000 in Cash

Chicago, December 15.—(AP)—Threatening death to the cashier and ten women employees, five robbers held up the business office of the University of Chicago late this afternoon and fled with $5,000 in cash of the university's pay roll.

The robbery took place while various groups of university employees were appearing for their pay. The loot, consisting entirely of cash and currency, was scooped from the cashier's cage. Four of the robbers were masked and armed with pistols. The fifth, apparently the leader, was unmasked and carried a rifle, directing the help.

The cashier, William J. Mather, and the various other employees were threatened with death if they made outcry or moved. The robbers fled in an automobile.

"BEEF BOYCOTT" CONTINUES GROWTH IN BOSTON HOTELS

Boston, December 15.—(United News.)—Boston's beef boycott seems slowly to be getting under way.

Reports from leading hotels tonight indicated that, while no sensational progress has been made in the movement to induce hotel diners here to eat something besides beef, anti-beef propaganda was being spread with earnestness and determination by most local hotel men.

About half the larger establishments have placed cards on their tables requesting patrons to eat chicken, chops or vegetables in place of beef, which, they explain, is now of an inferior quality.

D.A.R. MARKS NEGLECTED GRAVES OF SOLDIERS

Asbury Park, N. J., December 15.—Bronze plates, gifts of the Ocean Grove chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, today marked two previously neglected graves of revolutionary soldiers near Asbury Park.

When found by members of the patriotic organization the graves were covered by thickets and the humus of a century and a half.

The Woman in the Case

BY LOUIS TRACY

SYNOPSIS

John Arden, returning to his home at the Park Palace hotel, London, in the early hours of the morning, breaks his key in the lock and is given a room in a luxurious suite by the night watchman who assures him that the rooms are unoccupied. He is about to retire when two women enter the apartment. One is addressed as Emma and the other as Mrs. Sinclair. Arden, hiding, hears them speak of the sudden death of Lord Farndale. Without being observed he lets himself out of the apartment. The next morning he reads of the mysterious death of a peer. A little later he sees Emma on the street and is not far from her when she is knocked down by a motorcycle. Her dress is torn and he offers her his raincoat. She accepts it and he offers to get her a taxi, telling her that they live in the same hotel. Later Arden learns that the police know the identity of the two women who visited Lord Farndale but cannot locate them. They watch the railway terminals. Arden sees Emma at one of the stations and behind Mrs. Sinclair's back takes her away with him to avoid arrest. Mrs. Sinclair, in fear of being detained as a material witness was about to cross over to Paris with Emma. Arden takes the girl to the rooms of his friend, Andy Burke, who turns the apartment and his household over to her. Burke is invited to share Jimmie Davidson's rooms for the night. Before leaving, Arden's apartment the three friends and Detective Furzeaux of Scotland Yard, who has joined them, hold a conference in Emma's behalf.

On leaving Furzeaux suggests to Arden that he call on Mrs. Sinclair, who is back at the Park Palace hotel, before going to bed. He does so, but gains little information except a glance at Mrs. Sinclair's friend, Juan de Braganza, who claims to be Emma's husband.

Mrs. Sinclair is present at the inquest into Lord Farndale's death.

INSTALLMENT XXIII. THE FIRST WITNESS.

There was a pause. In a few seconds of silence the only sound in court was the industrious note taking by reporters far from being prepared for this somewhat preliminary skimming.

Mr. Lewis, the treasury solicitor, was hardly satisfied with the glib explanation, it would seem.

"What is the name of the lady who instructed you?" he demanded.

Mr. Franklin, not quite ready for that thrust, held a hasty consultation with Mrs. Sinclair. Then he said quietly:

"Mrs. Helena Sinclair. Perhaps it will simplify matters if I continue to allude to Mme. de Braganza as Miss Bernmore, the latter being the family name of the deceased peer. Mrs. Sinclair is Miss Bernmore's friend and guardian, having been entrusted with the guardianship by Lord Farndale's son, the Hon. William Denison Bernmore, who died at Buenos Aires last year."

"What is Mrs. Sinclair's present address?"

"The Park Palace hotel. For reasons which she is quite willing to make known, she has registered there as Mrs. Forbes. Forbes being her maiden name."

This admission robbed the treasury man of his next point. He could, of course, have pressed the matter further, but obeyed Winter's muttered advice:

"Let it go at that!"

"Before you take any evidence, sir," he said to the coroner, "I would ask that all witnesses be sent out of the court until they are called."

The coroner, Mr. Ingham, nodded.

"That will be done," he agreed.

"The first witness, Thomas Buchanan, the late Lord Farndale's butler, may remain. The others, including Mrs. Sinclair, must wait in the ante-room."

The lady in question, feeling, perhaps, that she had been "starred" very early in the proceedings, flushed angrily, but was soothed by her legal adviser, and went to the door indicated by the coroner's officer. Only one other person followed her, a man who looked like a doctor, and was, in fact, Lord Farndale's medical attendant.

Every one present realized, therefore, that the inquiry that day would be a brief one, but already it had developed features calling for full reports in the newspapers.

As Mrs. Sinclair passed out she glanced at Mr. Winter, who, however, was bent over some papers at the moment. So her eyes met Furzeaux's.

They had not seen each other before they met in court, and she may have wondered who the queer-looking, little man was. Enlightenment would come late, but at the moment, Winter figured as the enemy. It was particularly annoying to a woman of her active brain that she should not be permitted to hear all that took place.

Mr. Franklin might be skilful enough in his profession, but he could not possibly be prepared to deal with every phase of the difficult situation in which she had been plunged so suddenly. Yet, she must make the best of it. She walked out with the air of one who feared neither coroner nor Scotland Yard. In actual fact, she was easily the most striking personality in the place, and the stage seemed to empty when she vanished.

Winter noted her somewhat triumphant exit, and was not pleased.

"This has started all wrong, Frog," was a frail, white-haired, elderly man for a butler in manners and appearance.

"An orthodox and frightfully commonplace remark," snapped Furzeaux.

"But it's true,"

"Then why make it? As it happened, you're silly, as you're self-will realize as soon as you've smoked about five fat cigars, and I've had a chance to stir your massive intellect with the things that really matter."

Lewis knew his men, and took heart when he heard them bickering. That was the time when evidences should drop. The "Big Tin" and the "Little Tin" of the "Yard" were most to be feared when they quarreled.

"If you two will stop this unseemly wrangling," he said, "perhaps you will tell me what line I must follow? Am I to hold a 'stitching brief, or is it best to throw my weight about?"

"Be as smooth as you like," murmured Winter. "Let the lad on your right flounder a bit. He knows nothing, and is sure to make a break if you don't help him."

The treasury solicitor fancied that the chief superintendent might have expressed himself more politely, but resolved to bide his time. Furzeaux, he was sure, would enlighten him before long. The inquiry promised to develop into a cause celebre, so he could afford to wait.

Thomas Buchanan was called. He appeared, but one who had acquired the fine taste of a connoisseur for the good things of the wine cellar and the dinner table at the cost of a liver which absolutely forbade their use.

He gave his name, took the prescribed oath, and was promptly asked by the coroner if he would care to be sworn. His assent was given, and he was asked to express for a moment.

"Yes, sir," he said, in the gentle, rather precise voice one would expect from such a worn body.

"How long have you been associated with your deceased employer, Lord Farndale?" he inquired, addressing the witness.

"Fifty years, almost to a day, sir," came the somewhat astonishing reply.

"Then you have known him since he was a young man of 22?"

"Yes, sir."

"He got married about that age, did he not?"

"Yes, sir—a few months after I joined the family as old man about the house. That was when they lived at Higher Yatton, in Yorkshire, and Lord Farndale's father was engaged in the iron and steel trade in Middlebrook, while the Tees shipyard was hardly started."

"How did you come to attach yourself to Lord Farndale's fortunes?"

"The old gentleman died that year, sir. Mr. William got married, rather suddenly, according to local ideas, bought a London house, and began a shipping business between London and the far east. Everything he touched turned to gold. It was not long before he was given a baronetcy, not for subscribing to any political fund but because of his real services to the nation's trade. As it happened, Lady Bernmore took a fancy to me, and had trained, in a sort of way, as a butler. I think, sir, my only good point was that I knew all about the Yorkshire estate and hated the noisy life of London, even in those days."

Jones Kept Out of Bout By Doctor

Medico, in Letter, Says Injuries Too Serious for Him to Compete.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

These wrestling gentlemen are very perverse. Any man who would bill a nice easy name like Paul Jones then substitute a name like Stanislaus Zbyszko would take candy from a baby.

But that is what happened last night at city auditorium when the old man of the mountain, looking very much like a blimp, paddled his way to a two-fall victory over Jack Washburn.

To place the blame where it belongs it should be said that the boxing commission, under advisement of Jones' doctor, made the substitution when it discovered that Jones was suffering from serious injuries sustained in an automobile accident near Gainesville, Wednesday.

Jones came here prepared to do or die for "old Grapple" but under advice of Dr. Paul L. Hudson he was not allowed to enter the ring. His injuries were not serious but one cut over his right eye was sewed up like a gummy sack and the physician deemed it inadvisable to take any chance of opening the stitches.

Crowd Pleased.
But the crowd was generally pleased to see the old master roll and flop to victory. There is something about Old Man Zbyszko that commands respect. He is nearer 60 than 50 today and still he is capable of wrestling for two or three hours. His shape has suffered slightly from age but the billows of corpulent tissue still cover a wonderful set of muscles and his bald pate houses a keen wrestling brain. He won his first fall with a series of flying mares in 31 minutes and 41 seconds while the second flop came when Washburn yelled "calf rope" after the old master had all but twisted one of his feet from its supporting leg in a toe hold. This fall took but four minutes and 22 seconds.

Lineman Leads Iowa.

A husky lineman will captain the Iowa football team in its "Big Ten" campaign next season. Richard Brown of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, has been selected for the job. He is a center.

The preliminary featured Charlie Hanson, who has a face like Lon Chaney and a movement like Tarzan of the Apes, and Jimmy London, the Greek marvel. It ended in a draw with the redoubtable London trying all of his several tricks in an effort to reduce his foe.

Hanson is as clever a wrestler as has been seen in Atlanta for many a day and shows plainly the result of his long training at the hands of Farmer Burns—just about the greatest of them all.

Doctor Hudson's Letter.
Claude Buchanan, of the boxing commission, has asked that the following letter be published in order to clarify the facts regarding the substitution of wrestlers last night.

Here is the letter:

Atlanta, Ga., December 15, 1927.
Mr. Claude Buchanan, Chm., of Boxing Commission, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:

Mr. Paul Jones consulted me this afternoon for professional attention to injuries said to have been received in an automobile accident, December 12, 1927.

The abrasions on leg and forehead and cut on back of head are of a minor nature but he has a double, deep laceration through the right eyebrow that contains several stitches, and in view of the recent time of this injury and its more serious nature, I have advised him not to engage in wrestling or anything that might open up this injury again.

Very truly yours,
(Signed)
PAUL L. HUDSON, M.D.

TED GOODRICH AND MORRIS MIX. TUESDAY

Ted Goodrich, rocking young pugilist, who has trimmed several good boys in head-line affairs at the new Ringside club, will meet a lad by the name of Wild Bill Morris in the headliner of next Tuesday's fight card at the Ringside, so Matchmaker Jimmie Mayson announced last night.

According to clippings displayed by Mayson, it would seem that the wild young newcomer will be capable of swapping punches with Goodrich and furnishing good ring amusement. Morris has trimmed such boys as Battling Bud, Billy Montrose, Johnny Ray and Patsy Nugent by means of the kayo punch.

Goodrich, however, is a clever lad and a hard hitter. Therefore, the battle Tuesday night should be entertaining to say the least.

The rest of Matchmaker Mayson's card shows Jack Garrett, of the Power company, meeting Young Carter, city electrician, in an eight-round semi-windup. There will be two six-round affairs with Young Carter, who kayoed Murphy on last week's card, meeting Spike Kelly. The other six-rounder brings together Battling Mad-dox and Happy Smith.

Tickets, at popular prices, are on sale at Hick Kille's billiard parlor, Peachtree and Walton, and the Ringside club, Broad and Mitchell.

Admits "Tarring" Hoax.

Houston, Texas, December 15.—(AP) A self-conducted "tar and feather" party landed W. H. Patton, 45-year-old steel worker, in jail here today, the victim of his own hoax. After pretending he had been tortured by a group of men he said had abducted him last night, the district attorney announced Patton admitted he faked the attack and had applied oil and feathers to his body.

TITLE BOUTS FEATURE N. Y. FIGHT CARD

New York, December 15.—(AP)—One of Tex Rickard's genuine championship tussles and another granted that status by the New York state athletic commission will combine to set a new record Friday night at Madison Square Garden. The big arena never before has housed two 15-round title fights on the same night.

Ted Morgan, husky little junior lightweight champion from Seattle, Wash., will defend his crown for the second time against Joe Glick, punch-proof buttonholer from Brooklyn, in the main engagement.

The flyweight title vacated by Fidel LaBarba, California youngster, who gave up the ring to attend Stanford university, will rest with the winner of the 15-round semi-final between Corporal Izzy Schwartz, of New York, and Newsboy Brown, of Sioux City, Iowa, as far as the New York boxing authorities are concerned.

Hagen Is Given Breathing Spell

New York, December 15.—(United News.)—Walter Hagen, noted professional golfer, was granted one more week in which to complete the deal for control of the Rochester baseball club by officials of the International league in session here today.

"The situation is quite unsettled," President John Conway Toole said after the meeting.

Hagen appeared at the meeting and presented letters and telegrams as evidence of his ability to raise the $40,000 needed to complete the transaction. Hagen made the original payment of $25,000, but Detroit backers failed to come through with their promised aid when the payment needed to complete the deal came due.

A Cross To Bear.

Tonight some member of Georgia Tech's conference championship team of 1927 will be given a cross to bear through the season of 1928. Some football player of this year's Tornado will be elected captain of the squad for the coming season.

And he WILL have a cross to bear. The captain of a college football squad always has much to bear, and it is not hard to trace much of a team's success to its captain. Tonight Ed Crowley will surrender his title as captain of Tech's Jackets to another and those who have been following Tech's team through this great title season will see him go with a distinct feeling of regret.

His successor may and probably will fill the position with credit, but to those of us who have been watching the Tornado as it blew through the 1927 season realize fully just how much of its success was due to its captain. He is always a great influence, and that influence may be good or bad. With Ed Crowley it was good.

Not only on the field, where he guarded the interests of his team carefully and well, but off the field, where all football players unconsciously look to their captain for an example, did the influence of Ed Crowley's sportsmanship do much for the greatest Tornado in years.

Ed was no mollycoddle and he was no prude, but he observed training carefully and religiously and expected the others to do likewise. In a game he fought hard, but if Ed Crowley ever gained a point by dirty football it escaped our notice. He and Papa Hood were the same kind of men, and as captain and alternate they will be missed.

That banquet tonight will carry with it another important event. The great Constitution trophy will go permanently to Georgia Tech and will be presented to the team at the dinner.

In connection with that cup there is a story of Ed Crowley which illustrates the spirit which led the Jackets through the season. Under the grandstand before the Georgia game Ed was being photographed with the cup. In one pose he was receiving the cup from Captain Chick Shiver, of Georgia. In the other he was handing the cup to the Georgia captain. The latter pose was taken first, and when the photographer suggested that the light was none too good and that the picture might not be as good as the other, which was taken in better light, Ed replied, "You won't use that one, anyway."

That statement was not made in a spirit of boasting. He didn't even smile. He forgot all the dope that the Tech-Georgia game brought to light and made a simple statement that Tech would win. And you may bet your last dollar that Ed Crowley meant and believed what he said that rainy afternoon. That was the spirit he imparted to his teammates.

Sandlot Title Game.

Today brings another great sporting event, too. Those of you who can remember back to your "sandlot" days (and we pity those of you who can't) will be doubly interested in two title football games which will be played at Spiller's field this afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

In the 125-pound class two undefeated teams will meet when the Tigers and the North Side Bulldogs battle. In the 140-pound division Grant Park and the Peachtree Road Terrers battle for supremacy. These two teams are also undefeated, but have ties against their record.

Judging from the appearance of the weather at present writing, there will be a miniature reproduction of the Georgia-Tech battle this afternoon. And in so far as football is concerned, do not get the idea that these lads cannot play the game. Go out and see for yourselves.

had only four games, having won them all by large scores. Any teams desiring games can get in touch with "Chic" Harris, at Ivy 5172, 547 Sunset avenue, N. W.

The Western Heights Bluebirds desire basketball games with any strong team in or around this city.

The Heights boys have one of the strongest teams in amateur circles and want games for their home court at the English Avenue school. So far this season the boys have

Minor Leagues Defer Action in Draft Controversy

Break With Majors May Be Result

Minors To Take Matter Up at Regular Meeting To Be Held February 1.

By ALAN J. GOULD.
Associated Press Sports Editor.
New York, December 15.—If the minor leagues of the country desire to cut off relations completely with the majors and indulge, as a result, in a free-for-all scrap or player scramble, they are perfectly free to do so, the American and National league club owners decided late today in a prolonged joint meeting.

Responding to the initiative taken by the minors, who are dissatisfied with the draft system, the majors announced that the major-minor agreement may terminate on January 14, 1928, when the seven-year period of its operation expires if the minors desire its cancellation.

Despite this war-like gesture it appears likely to be a bloodless affair for the minors, at the same time, agreed to a truce until February 1 when the minors will signify whether or not they desire to break off relations, negotiate a new agreement or continue under the present system. Meanwhile, on a status quo basis, business will be "as usual" and relations between the upper and lower strata of the game conducted under the terms of the existing compact.

The action of the majors was disclosed after a six-hour joint session, presided over by Commissioner Landis and bringing the three-day baseball parley here to an official close. It was the climax of a protracted series of conferences and paved the way for a final showdown before the winter is over in the relations of the two principal baseball groups.

The text of the major league resolution adopted is as follows: "Resolved that the major leagues, in reply to the inquiry of the National association of minor leagues, in form the National association that the major leagues are willing to have the major-minor agreement terminate on January 14, 1928, if the National association so desires."

By this piece of strategy, the majors unexpectedly conceded the point over which the minors had anticipated considerable argument—the life of the major-minor league agreement.

The majors in effect put responsibility for a break up to the minors, taking the attitude that if the minors "want a scrap they can have it." The prediction was freely made that the two factions would get together before February 1 and avoid a split.

The major league club owners found time to adopt 18 amendments of varying importance to their own rules and put into effect regulations designed to stop betting on the games by players and check the offering of gifts to players for putting forth their best efforts against a rival club.

These player rules, agreed upon last January at a meeting of magnates in French Lick are the upshot of disclosures in the Cobb-Specker investigation.

Sport Review of 1927

BY NORMAN E. BROWN.

Annual "We'll-Win-the-Pennant" Came in April

April started off with April 1. Eight American league managers took advantage of the fact. Seven of them told the fans that they (the seven managers) would win the pennant. The other one to let them have it—and then wind up the season 19 games to the good.

And a Memphis doctor pulled the best April fool on the National league by operating on Travis Jackson, young Giant star, to remove his appendix and then moving the Giants' pennant chances at the same time. It is generally agreed that the loss of the brilliant young shortstop dashed the flag chances of the New York club.

Before the end of the month the American league had witnessed the total collapse of the Athletics, chief contenders in the league, according to the winter dope, and picked by the majority of the experts to beat the champion Yanks.

George Kofas, high school boy of New York city, startled the athletic world by defeating Johnny Weismuller, world's champion sprint swimmer, in a Chicago meet. Weismuller sought revenge the next night and got it by defeating Kofas by 30 feet in setting a new national record for the 220-yard free style swim with a mark of 2:10.4-5.

The month saw Walter Hagen, king of the pro golfers, beaten twice by Bobby Cruikshank trimmed him two up at Pinehurst in the North and South tourney, and Sarason gained partial revenge for an earlier trimming by noosing him out 2 and 1 in a 36-hole match at White Sulphur Springs.

Vernon Kennedy, Missouri State Teachers' college, won the decathlon at the annual Penn relay games in Philadelphia by taking first in the discus, pole vault and javelin and placing in the other events.

Edwin Wide, Swedish runner, beat Nurm's record for the mile and a half run by turning it in 6 minutes, 37.4-5 seconds, as against Nurm's time of 6:39.2-5. Willie Goodwin, New Yorker and national two-mile champion, finished second, 70 yards behind.

Willie Ritola clipped 9.1-5 seconds off the world's 5,000-yard mark. Clarence De Mar, who won his first Boston marathon race in 1911 and then repeated after a lapse of 16 years, added his fifth victory in the event, recognized as the American marathon race.

The famous Celtics, representing Brooklyn in the American professional basketball league, won the world's championship.

The United States Golf association voted to declare Miss Mary K. Browne a professional because she had "acted in a manner detrimental to the best interests of golf." Her crime against the ancient Scottish game was in becoming a professional tennis player to participate in an exhibition tour with Suzanne Lenglen the previous year.

Joe Torres, Tarahumara Indian, set a new world's record for the 51 miles in a run from Kansas City to Lawrence, Kan., by covering the distance in 6:46:41. The record had stood since 1882 and had been set by W. C. Davies, of New York, Thomas Taffo and other members of the tribe ran in this and other races with Torres.

And the foolish month ended with Jack Dempsey signing for a bout with Paulino Uzcudun—which didn't take.

There will be tributes paid in the words of the city's greatest speakers, and there will be the usual cheers of the multitude, but mere words and just as mere cheers can never do the job. All of the players to win their letters will be presented with footballs and their hands will be shaken by hundreds of admirers, but there is not a man in the crowd who would trade one minute of the Georgia game for all the handshaking in the world.

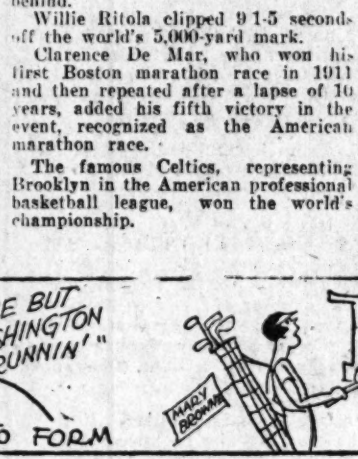

That is one reason that the presentation of the huge Constitution trophy will play a great part in the ceremonies tonight. To the members of that 1927 team that cup is emblematic of the title, for in the winning of that trophy they won the championship and set the dopsters to tearing their hair and talking to themselves.

The cup will be presented to the team tonight and will stand for generations in the Tech trophy room as a mute reminder to the public that a Golden Tornado is never beaten until 60 minutes of football is played.

The banquet tonight will mark the final appearance of Ed Crowley as captain of the Tech team, and his passing will bring regret. Also Papa Hood will relinquish his hold on the alter ego job and the man who takes his place will have a high mark to reach.

There will be tributes to Coach Alex and again there is no doubt that the words will be inadequate.

Considered from every angle there seems little doubt that tonight will witness the greatest Tech banquet in history. Tonight will tell.

ALL-EASTERN TEAM LEAVES FOR FRISCO

Chicago, December 15.—(AP)—Stars of the gridiron firmament of the eastern part of the United States pooled their talents with those of two coaches whom many of them had never seen before and prepared for their western invasion today.

The all-eastern squad represents 12 teams. Minnesota, Yale and Washington and Jefferson each placed three. Notre Dame and Nebraska placed two each and the rest are from other schools in the east, middlewest, north and south. The squad is composed of the following:

Backs: Joesting and Vagquist, Minnesota; Wynne, Notre Dame; Pressnell, Nebraska; Lane, Dartmouth; Cahwell, Yale; Connors, New York University; and Amos, Washington and Jefferson.

Ends: Scott and Fishwick, Yale, and Walsh, Notre Dame. Tackles: Atkins, Lafayette; Weinstock, Western Maryland; Douds, Washington and Jefferson; Hansen, Minnesota, and Randall, Nebraska. Guards: Pawley, Washington and Jefferson, and Baer, Michigan. Centers: Reitch, Illinois, and Hawley, Haskell.

Schoals Leads Cornell. The Cornell university gridiron eleven of 1928 will be led by Dudley Nelson Scholes of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, at present a junior. Scholes has played end for two seasons.

Western Heights To Play. The Western Heights Bluebirds will play the St. Paul boys of the class "A" Epworth Basketball league at English Avenue school auditorium, Wednesday evening, December 21, at 7:30 o'clock. There will be two games on this night.

The Atlanta Soccer team and the Tenth-second Infantry team will hook up in a soccer match at Spiller's field on Saturday, and a great battle is being looked forward to by soccer devotees in this section. Contrary to opinion there are quite a few people in Atlanta who are interested in this game as was shown by the attendance at the Fort McPherson series of matches.

The Atlanta club will find its supremacy seriously challenged by the Soldiers in this game. The Twenty-second only took to the game this year and from a group of basketball and football players Captain Bolling and Lieutenant Weckerling have contrived to put out a team that will hold its own against experienced outfits. Some men turned out for the team who had soccer experience among them being Krall, Tedesco and Turner. So far the only victory won by the Twenty-second was a 4-3 count over a composite team which included seven players of the Atlanta Soccer club.

Colored Conference Meets in Knoxville

Knoxville, Tenn., December 15.—Representatives of the Southeastern Intercollegiate Athletic association (colored) began arriving here tonight for the annual two-day session which opens at Knoxville college on Friday. The executive committee held a two-hour meeting Thursday night and outlined the program. Adoption of a new constitution, arrangement of the 1928 schedule, assignment of officials, designation of the championship teams in football, basketball and baseball will be some of the matters coming before the association for consideration.

Mosean Club Downs Agogas by 43-3 Score

The Mosean club team downed the Jackson Street Agogas, 43-3, on the Alliance court.

The game was one-sided from the start, the winners outlasting their opponents in every department. The Agogas were much taller than the Moseans, but what was lacking in height was made up in speed.

Annual Tech Banquet Set For Tonight

Many People Are Expected To Attend Affair in Honor of Southern Champs.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

The town house of the Atlanta Athletic club has a huge dining room, but it is highly probable that the larger gymnasium at the club will be drafted into service for the Tech football banquet tonight at 6:30 o'clock. The gymnasium will accommodate 1,200 diners, and it is entirely possible that just about that number will be present to pay homage to the champions of the southland.

And there is no reason in the world why all the city should not turn out to this dinner to the Tech team. If ever a football team deserved the very best in the way of tribute from the fans it is this gang of Yellow Jackets who struggled through a hard season to win the conference title in that last great struggle with their ancient rivals.

There will be tributes paid in the words of the city's greatest speakers, and there will be the usual cheers of the multitude, but mere words and just as mere cheers can never do the job. All of the players to win their letters will be presented with footballs and their hands will be shaken by hundreds of admirers, but there is not a man in the crowd who would trade one minute of the Georgia game for all the handshaking in the world.

That is one reason that the presentation of the huge Constitution trophy will play a great part in the ceremonies tonight. To the members of that 1927 team that cup is emblematic of the title, for in the winning of that trophy they won the championship and set the dopsters to tearing their hair and talking to themselves.

The cup will be presented to the team tonight and will stand for generations in the Tech trophy room as a mute reminder to the public that a Golden Tornado is never beaten until 60 minutes of football is played.

Mack Cast-Off Makes Good With White Sox

Bought by Ray Schalk in Last Minute Effort To Fill Mostil's Shoes, Rookie Comes Through.

BY GEORGE MORIARTY.
Manager of the Detroit Baseball Club.

Metzler, centerfielder of the White Sox, has joined that small percentage of ball players who have waited for a twist of the fates to furnish an opportunity.

A year ago, his praises were unsung, but today there isn't a major league club that wouldn't offer high stakes for his services.

Little had been thought of Metzler's ability to make good in the big show. In 1926 he was a member of the Wichita Falls club, Texas league, and probably a score of ivory hunters pestered the N. G. label on his wares. I have been told Metzler had a very difficult time trying to win a regular berth in the Texas league.

Connie Mack finally accepted him on an optional agreement, and last spring he reported at the Athletics' training camp. But Ty Cobb and Zack Wheat had been added to Mack's outfield scheme for 1927, and consequently Metzler was lightly considered, and continued his role of bench warmer.

Along came April, "ax-time" for surplus major league material. Metzler, in that saddened mood which grips the "canned" rookie, was headed back to Wichita Falls.

It so happened that I played a part in Metzler's rise to the big show. At that time the Tigers were at Wichita Falls, playing an exhibition game with the local club. Alvin Gardner, manager of that club, asked me if there was a possibility of placing Metzler with a major league team. Knowing of Mostil's inability to play, I suggested that he get in touch with the White Sox. He telegraphed, and found them a willing buyer.

The South Siders had been trying desperately all spring to fill Mostil's shoes, and bought Metzler as a last resort. Ray Schalk didn't expect him to take Mostil's place, as Mostil was considered the best go-getting centerfielder in the major league. I think it was Ty Cobb who called Mostil the "traffic cop" of the American league, implying that he handled everything in sight.

Metzler Makes Good. Metzler won the plaudits of the crowds on numerous occasions by spectacular fly-catching and sturdy batting. His consistent work was mainly instrumental in keeping the White Sox in the race during the early part of the 1927 campaign.

South's Golf Program Has Many Features

Southern Open Expected to Draw Leading Stars of Nation Again.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Dixie is "in" for its greatest golfing year in history in 1928, beginning the first of January and terminating late in the year.

The great, near-great and aspiring of the links are either already in the south or will be soon.

North Carolina and Florida, as usual, will have their innumerable tourneys, chief among these will be the north and south amateur, the north and south open and the north and south women's tournament at Pinehurst and the Florida open, the Florida amateur, the Miami Beach open and the international four-ball match.

But those are only the usual ones. The unusual, according to well-grounded talk now, will include three tournaments in as many weeks, one at Birmingham, one at Chattanooga and another at Atlanta.

The Alabama open is being proposed for Birmingham, a Tennessee open for Chattanooga and a southern open for Atlanta with prizes to approximate $5,000 each. According to the plan the tournaments would begin three weeks before the major Pinehurst play, thus attracting the leading professionals on their trek northward from Florida.

Cumming Defeats Braselton, 35 - 26

Cumming, Ga., December 15.—(Special.)—The Cumming Athletic club defeated the Braselton A. C. here 35 to 26, taking the lead after the first two minutes of play when they stepped on the gas and bewildered the Braselton boys by their fast passing attack.

Baird was the big gun for the loggers, while Kirby and Ingram were the high scorers for the Cumming five.

This was Cumming's fourth consecutive win out of as many starts on the new gym floor this season.

Harry Mehre Succeeds Kid Woodruff as Coach at Georgia

Spotts Is Picked For End Vacancy On All-Star Team

Tuscaloosa, Ala., December 15.—(AP)—Hollis S. Spotts, Washington and Lee end, will make the Pacific coast trip with the all-Southern senior team which will meet a Pacific coast eleven Christmas day, Coach Wallace Wade, of Alabama, in charge of the southern team, announced today.

Spotts will take one of the places vacated by Shiver and Nash, Georgia ends, who are unable to make the trip because of examinations.

Coach Wade this morning wired Spotts of his selection and advised him to report at Tuscaloosa immediately to join other members of the team who will meet here tomorrow to begin preparations for the trip to the coast.

S. C. Boxing Meet Is Set for March 2

Charlottesville, Va., December 15.—(AP)—The southern conference boxing tournament will be held at the University of Virginia here March 2 and 3, it was announced tonight by David E. Brown, graduate manager of athletics at Virginia and chairman of the S. I. C. boxing committee. The five teams that participated in the tournament last year—Florida, North Carolina, Virginia, Washington and Lee, and Virginia Poly—will be entered again this year with several other conference members expected. Including Georgia, Georgia Tech, Maryland and V. M. I., it was said. The entry list is not complete. The University of Virginia is attempting to make the tournament an annual affair at Charlottesville as the basketball tournament now is at Atlanta. The committee in charge of boxing, appointed at the recent meeting at Lexington, is composed of Mr. Brown, Forest Fletcher, of Washington and Lee, and Reed, of Florida.

Maine Track Coach Has New Method Of Finding Talent

Brunswick, Me., December 15.—(AP)—The fertile brain of Jack Magee, Bowdoin college track coach, is responsible for the latest method of uncovering hidden collegiate track talent. He calls it a "blind track meet" and it is scheduled to run every other afternoon at Bowdoin for the rest of the indoor season with some 1,000 seniors, juniors and sophomores competing.

Each competitor draws from a hat a slip of cardboard on which are written the three events in which he is to compete during the afternoon. A "sliding scale" of restrictions prevents any strapping from being called on to toss the 35-pound hammer or any one weighing more than 100 pounds to run more than a 440.

New Stadium Is Planned At University

Woodruff Is Made Alumni Manager of Athletics; Shiver Is Signed.

BY BOB SHERROD.

Athens, Ga., December 15.—Several electrifying announcements came to some 200 citizens of Athens and football players of the University of Georgia at the annual banquet given the team at the Athens Country club Thursday night.

Harry J. Mehre, who has been assistant coach of Georgia teams since 1924, was named head coach for 1928. Mehre is a former stellar line-man of Notre Dame. Jimmy Crowley, assistant coach since 1925 and another pupil of Knute Rockne, was announced as reelected. Chick Shiver, captain and all-American end from Georgia this year, was named end coach, while Gene Smith, guard for three years on the Bulldog aggregation, will be the 1928 freshman coach. Bill White was announced as reelected to coach Georgia's baseball teams and H. J. Stegeman was named director of athletics in addition to his regular duties as coach of basketball and track.

Dr. S. V. Sanford, faculty director of athletics, said that he has been announced that the University of Georgia would have one of the most magnificent stadiums in the south next year.

Stadium To Be Erected. Funds have already been made available and construction on the new project will start at once. The new stadium will be located between the old Sanford field and Memorial hall, where the natural location for a stadium is ideal. Captain J. W. Barnett, city engineer of Athens, said that the cost of a stadium would be reduced by 40 per cent by the ideal site which nature created at this point. The stadium, it is planned, will seat 35,000 with accommodations for enlargement.

The election to coaching offices and plans for a stadium came as a result of a meeting of the athletic board this afternoon but were not made public until the banquet tonight. The banquet was given by the citizens of Athens complimentary to the football teams of the university and of Athens High school, which institution holds the state football championship in its class. Harold Hirsch, prominent Atlanta citizen and president of University of Georgia alumni in that city, acted as toastmaster for the occasion and announced that the alumni of Atlanta were back of Dr. Sanford in his plans for a new stadium. Among the speakers were Messrs. Abie Nix, for the city of Athens; Judge T. F. Green, as a member of the university prudential committee; retiring Coach Woodruff; Coach Mehre; Captain Chick Shiver; Captains-elect Glenn Lautzenhiser and Roy Jacobson; Captain J. W. Barnett, city engineer of Athens, and several others.

The election of Harry Mehre as head coach and the plan for a new stadium came as a surprise to the majority of Georgia supporters who had expected that the old Notre Dame center would fill the post vacated by Woodruff. Mehre's popularity among the football players and student body is unanimous and it is to his coaching that the success of recent Georgia teams has been partly accredited.

SPORT JOTS BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No amendments passed by the Southern conference at its Lexington meeting last week were retroactive. In some quarters some doubt has been expressed among football fans as to whether the rule enacted prohibiting students from participating in conference athletics unless they came from accredited scholastic institutions applied to athletes already in college.

Dr. S. V. Sanford, president of the conference, told The Associated Press today that this rule has no application to those students already matriculated at a conference institution.

The amendment reads: "No student shall be permitted to participate in intercollegiate athletics on a conference team unless he is a graduate of an accredited high school or preparatory school." The measure was proposed by Dr. Sanford and passed in a closed session of the conference.

A misunderstanding concerning dates may deprive Atlanta football fans of the game they have been waiting a long time to see. A mix-up in dates between Notre Dame and Georgia Tech has been encountered and officials at the Tornado institution are not so certain they will be able to smooth out the "jam" so that the South Bend team can come here to play.

If the problem cannot be worked out, it is understood that another conference team will be added to the schedule.

Although having broken no records in his three-mile run last Saturday in Birmingham, Luny Smith, Alabama distance star, has given promise of more sensational performances before the collegiate year 1927-28 has ended.

His time of 15:51 3-5 for the three miles compares favorably with the world record of 14:11 2-3 held by Paavo Nurmi of Finland.

Smith did not appear exhausted at the end of the jaunt in Birmingham, indicating that he could even better the mark set there.

His name will be a big attraction at the track and field meet of the conference in Birmingham next spring.

Scarcity of Backs On All-West 11

Los Angeles, Calif., December 15.—(AP)—Lack of backfield men for the coast eleven today was worrying promoters of the proposed west-south football game here Christmas day. Nearly a score of first division line-men have been decided on with only a half dozen behind the line to pick from to date.

Those already selected follow: Ends—Robbins, Oregon Agricultural college; Douglas, Washington; Henderson, University of California, at Los Angeles; Moser, Southern California. Tackles—Schering, Southern California; Diehl, Idaho; Hutchinson, Idaho; Virhans, Montana; Hudson, U. C. L. A.

Guards—Heiser, S. C. Tandy, O. A. C.; Shaw, Washington; Davis, U. C. L. A.; Hodges, University of Oregon; Vaier, Gonzaga. Centers—Bonamy and Lauzon, Washington.

Quarterbacks—Elliott, S. C.; Pendleton, Whittier. Fullbacks—Tesreau, Washington. Halfbacks—Rudy, O. A. C.; Larneta, S. C.; Tunney, Loyola college.

The collegiate year 1927-28 has ended. His time of 15:51 3-5 for the three miles compares favorably with the world record of 14:11 2-3 held by Paavo Nurmi of Finland.

Smith did not appear exhausted at the end of the jaunt in Birmingham, indicating that he could even better the mark set there.
